Chairman's Statement

Dear Shareholders,

The financial year under review (Financial Year 2024-26) represents an 18-month period (October 1, 2024 to March 31, 2026) following the transition to an April–March financial year.

Financial Year 2024-26 marked a period of transition and resilience for the Company, set against a global backdrop of moderate growth, persistent geopolitical uncertainty and evolving economic dynamics. Global growth remained structurally lower than pre-pandemic levels, with supply chain disruptions, tariff and commodity price increases and exchange rate volatility leading to increasing levels of inflation.

Despite this environment, India continued to outperform as one of the fastest-growing major economies, supported by strong domestic demand, sustained public infrastructure spending and expanding manufacturing and digital capabilities. This remains highly relevant to the Company, whose portfolio is closely aligned with India's long-term priorities in electrification, automation, rail modernization, smart infrastructure and industrial AI.

During the 18-month period, the Company sustained its focus on vertical markets through its wide portfolio range aimed at making our customers more sustainable and resilient. The Company remains well positioned to support India's next phase of industrial and infrastructure development and will benefit from increasing outlays in conventional growth sectors such as power transmission & distribution, commercial buildings, consumer package goods, metals, water, life sciences and emerging high growth areas such as renewables, batteries, data centers, semiconductors, aerospace and defense.

Financial Performance – Highlights

For the Financial Year 2024-26, the Company received New Orders valued at ₹ 338,678 million. The Order Backlog as of March 31, 2026 stood at ₹ 434,298 million. Sales (excluding other operating revenues) were at ₹ 256,677 million.

Profits from Operations stood at ₹ 27,261 million. The Company's Profit before Tax stood at ₹ 33,691 million. The Profit after Tax for the financial year was ₹ 25,460 million. The Board of Directors of the Company has recommended a dividend of ₹18/- per equity share of the face value of ₹ 2/- each for the eighteen months period ended March 31, 2026.

The above financial performance is for total operations of the Company.

Business Performance – Highlights

The Company delivered a resilient performance across businesses, supported by strong demand across key sectors such as data centers, mobility, power transmission, automotive, metals and pharmaceuticals, alongside emerging opportunities in semiconductors, batteries and green hydrogen.

The Company further strengthened its position through several significant milestones in the Mobility business. A particularly proud moment for Siemens was the flagging off by the Hon'ble Prime Minister of India Shri Narendra Modi of the first of the new D9 – 9,000 HP electric locomotives for Indian Railways from the Dahod factory in Gujarat. This milestone is part of the landmark project for the design, engineering, manufacturing, and maintenance of 1,200 locomotives. Approximately 90% of the technologies for these are Made in India.

The Company also reinforced its role in India's next-generation rail infrastructure through the award of a landmark contract for the country's first high-speed rail project, under which a Siemens-led consortium will deliver advanced ETCS Level 2-based signaling and telecommunication technologies for the Mumbai–Ahmedabad corridor, supporting train operations at speeds of up to 350 km/h. In addition, the Company secured orders for advanced signaling and telecommunication technologies for Nagpur Metro Rail Project Phase 2, further strengthening its presence in urban mobility through solutions that enhance safety, punctuality, energy efficiency and passenger experience. The Company also received an internal work allocation from its group company for manufacturing and supply of bogies, traction motors and gearboxes, valued at ₹ 18.25 billion.

Chairman's Statement

Across its wide technology portfolio, the Company demonstrated technology leadership at Transform – Siemens Innovation Day 2026, reinforcing its position in India in industrial AI, digital twins, automation and electrification. The event brought together industry leaders, policymakers, partners, and technology experts and showcased how the Company is translating advanced technologies into real-world outcomes across industrial, infrastructure and mobility sectors. With over 700 digital references deployed in India in collaboration with 25 ecosystem partners, the Company demonstrated how AI, automation, software and electrification are converging to help customers improve productivity, reduce downtime and energy intensity, shorten design-to-production cycles through digital twins and simulation and enhance asset performance and resilience across factories, infrastructure and utilities.

The financial year was also marked by several significant market-facing milestones, including the launch of the digitalization portfolio for the machine tool industry and the showcase of integrated technologies for industry, infrastructure, grids, signaling, electrification, rolling stock and digital rail solutions at major industry forums and trade exhibitions.

Successful demerger and listing of Energy business

During the financial year, the Company successfully completed the demerger of the Company's Energy business and listing of Siemens Energy India Limited.

The listing of Siemens Energy India Limited (the demerged business of the Company) in 2025 was a historic milestone – the moment representing the culmination of a remarkable journey that began in 2020 when Siemens Energy was spun off globally from Siemens AG and subsequently listed. The demerger process in India was effectively set in motion in December 2023 after the promoters of Siemens Limited had requested the Board of Directors of Siemens Limited to consider steps towards the potential demerger of the Company's Energy business into a separate entity.

The Board of Directors of the Company also approved the sale of the Low Voltage Motors business to Innomotics India Private Limited.

Technology Focus

The Company continues to strengthen its position as a technology leader by combining the real and the digital worlds to deliver scalable, future-ready solutions across industry, infrastructure and mobility.

At the core of this approach is the increasing integration of digitalization, industrial software and Artificial Intelligence, enabling customers to enhance productivity, improve operational efficiency and make faster, data-driven decisions. These technologies are also playing a critical role in supporting customers' transition towards more resource-efficient and resilient operations.

A key enabler in this journey is the Siemens Xcelerator platform, which brings together software, IoT-enabled hardware and a strong ecosystem of partners to accelerate digital transformation at scale. With a rapidly expanding marketplace of solutions, the platform is helping customers adopt interoperable, outcome-driven technologies faster and more effectively.

The Company is also advancing the use of digital twins and industrial AI across its portfolio. Digital twin-based solutions are enabling customers to simulate, optimize and continuously improve products, production systems, buildings and grids – reducing resource consumption and improving lifecycle performance. Similarly, industrial AI is driving measurable improvements in energy efficiency, emissions reduction and asset performance across sectors.

Sustainability continues to be deeply embedded in the Company's technology portfolio, with a significant majority of offerings enabling customers to achieve positive environmental outcomes.

As industries become more connected and autonomous, the Company remains focused on leveraging technology to drive long-term value creation – helping customers operate more efficiently, adapt to evolving market conditions and build sustainable, future-ready enterprises.

Sustainability & Business Responsibility

Sustainability remains integral to the Company's strategy and operations.

During the 18-month period, the Company, through various channels, sourced 100% of its electricity consumption from renewable energy. It continued to deliver measurable impact also in resource efficiency, with a significant proportion of operational waste being recovered and recycled.

The Company further advanced circularity through the recycling of e-waste, plastics, and batteries, while strengthening sustainable product design through eco-design principles, lifecycle assessments and Environmental Product Declarations (EPDs), which contributed meaningfully to its revenue mix.

On the social front, the Company reinforced its commitment to safety and wellbeing, maintaining a strong "zero harm" culture and improving key safety metrics. It also continued to promote inclusive growth through targeted CSR initiatives and increased engagement with local Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs).

Beyond environmental performance, the Company further strengthened its social impact through targeted CSR initiatives. Flagship programs such as the Siemens Scholarship Program supported 1,172 engineering students from underserved backgrounds, while the Dual Vocational Education and Training (VET) program enabled industry-aligned skilling for over 93,000 ITI trainees across 17 states. In school education, Project Jigyaasa promoted STEM learning across over 100 government schools, reaching more than 18,000 students and enhancing teaching capabilities through dedicated interventions.

At the community level, Project Asha continued to drive integrated rural development, including water conservation, renewable energy access, and livelihood enhancement across villages in Maharashtra and Gujarat, while the Company also supported disaster-affected communities through relief initiatives benefiting over 160 villages.

The Company also maintained a strong culture of integrity, transparency and compliance, underpinned by robust governance frameworks, including 100% completion of mandatory Business Conduct Guidelines training by employees and a zero-tolerance approach to non-compliance.

People Excellence

The Company's people remain its strongest asset, and Financial Year 2024-26 saw continued progress in building a future-ready, inclusive organization.

Key highlights included over 330,000 hours of learning delivered across the organization, continued strengthening of the leadership pipeline through flagship programs such as Lead Empower Accelerate Practice (an online learning program for all leaders), C.O.R.E. potential development program and Elevate, a manager enablement program. The Company also had focused investments in AI-led capability building and digital skills through initiatives such as AI in Mobility and AI in Factories; and targeted interventions, including the #yeSIcare campaign – an effort to foster an environment where individuals feel valued and empowered.

The Company also advanced its diversity, equity and inclusion agenda through its 4C approach, supported by strong female representation in university hiring, the launch of SheImpact as an all-women employee resource group, and continued engagement through the Siemens Global Engagement Survey. This was complemented by sustained emphasis on employee wellbeing through the "We Care" program, flexible mobile working policies, leadership support initiatives, a strong focus on health, safety, and a zero-harm culture. The contribution of the People & Organization team was further recognized through the Golden Peacock Award, 2025 for HR Excellence.

The Company further strengthened safety capability and awareness through structured safety campaigns, while preventive health check-ups, manager sensitization programs, health camps at project sites, and physical and mental wellbeing sessions helped build workforce resilience. Employee engagement was also reinforced through fitness and awareness initiatives, including walkathons and World Mental Health Day programs.

These initiatives have helped foster a high-performance culture aligned with the Company's growth ambitions.

Chairman's Statement

Outlook

India continues to offer a resilient long-term growth opportunity, supported by sustained investments in infrastructure, industrial modernization and energy transition. While the external environment remains volatile, marked by geopolitical tensions, currency movements and commodity price fluctuations, domestic demand fundamentals continue to remain encouraging. At present, no slowdown is observed in either private or public capital expenditure, and the medium-term outlook for the Indian economy remains constructive.

For the Company, continued opportunities are seen across electrification, automation and digitalization for power utilities, railways, urban mobility, infrastructure (energy transition and grid modernization) and industrial sectors such as chemicals, pharmaceuticals, food and beverage, cement and automotive. Emerging areas such as data centers are also gaining momentum and are expected to become an increasingly important growth driver in the years ahead.

Structural trends shaping the future of industry and infrastructure — sustainability, digitalization, energy efficiency and resilient supply chains — are expected to continue driving demand for advanced technologies and integrated solutions. The Company is well positioned to capitalize on long-term opportunities, supported by its strong portfolio, local presence, technology leadership and strategic alignment with India's development priorities.

At the same time, the Company remains watchful of the impact that inflationary pressures, commodity volatility, foreign exchange movements and global uncertainties may have on costs and investment sentiment. The Company will continue to focus on disciplined execution, customer relevance and long-term value creation while staying agile in an evolving business environment.

The Board remains confident that the Company will continue to deliver sustainable and profitable growth in line with market opportunities in the coming years.

In conclusion, I sincerely thank our customers, the Board, the management, unions, and most importantly, the dedicated employees for their consistent support and commitment to Siemens Limited during yet another challenging year.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Overview

From October 2024 through March 2026, the global economy navigated a prolonged phase of moderate growth, disinflation and elevated uncertainty. Entering late calendar year 2024, growth across major economies had already slowed below historical averages, driven by tight monetary conditions, weak global trade volumes and rising geopolitical fragmentation. The IMF projected global growth at around 3.3% in 2024, easing further to 3.2% in 2025 and 3.1% in 2026, underscoring a structurally softer growth trajectory compared to the pre-pandemic period.

Growth across major economies remained uneven, shaped by ongoing geopolitical tensions – particularly in West Asia – supply chain disruptions, and elevated interest rate levels in advanced economies. While inflationary pressures showed signs of moderation globally, policy uncertainty and delayed monetary easing continued to weigh on investment sentiment and cross-border trade flows. Geopolitical risks and energy price volatility have been flagged as key factors influencing the global economy in early 2026.

Against this challenging global backdrop, India sustained its position as the fastest-growing major economy. As of April 2026, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) projects India's real GDP growth for the Financial Year 2024-26 (18 months) at 7.6%, supported by strong domestic demand, public infrastructure spending and resilient services activity.

Growth was broad-based. India's industrial sector recorded moderate but uneven growth during the final quarter of Financial Year 2024-26. The Index of Industrial Production expanded by 4.1% year on year in March 2026 led by strong performance in manufacturing and capital goods.

Manufacturing activity remained in expansion territory but showed visible signs of softening toward March 2026. The HSBC India Manufacturing PMI averaged above the expansion threshold of 50 during January–March 2026, supported by strong domestic demand, technology investments and capacity utilization. However, the index eased to 53.9 in March 2026, its lowest level in nearly four years, weighed down by heightened cost pressures, global uncertainty and geopolitical disruptions affecting input supplies.

A number of core vertical segments that are part of the Company's key markets witnessed growth. These include data centers, power transmission and distribution, metals, cement, automotive, e-vehicles and pharmaceuticals.

Financial Year 2024-26 also saw the emergence of new verticals such as semiconductors, batteries, electronics and green hydrogen. In the rail transportation segment, continued ordering was seen in rolling stock, signaling and electrification projects. The Company has a leadership position through its technologies and comprehensive product portfolio across industry, infrastructure and mobility. In Financial Year 2024-26, the businesses performed well despite a slowdown in ordering of industrial automation products on account of normalization of demand following shorter delivery cycles.

During the Financial Year 2024-26, the Company continued to strengthen its strategic focus on technology-led areas. The Company reinforced its leadership across industry, infrastructure and mobility through project wins and flagship customer engagements, including the deployment of Industrial AI, digital twins, automation and electrification showcased at Transform – Siemens Innovation Day 2026. In Mobility, the Company advanced India's rail modernization agenda through advanced signaling, electrification and high-performance locomotive technologies, including participation in India's first high-speed rail corridor. The Company also expanded its digitalization footprint through Siemens Xcelerator-based deployments supporting efficiency, sustainability and scalability for customers, while continuing to secure strong order inflows across businesses.

On August 8, 2025, the Board of Directors approved a change in the financial year of the Company from October – September to April – March. Accordingly, the Financial Year 2024-26 comprised eighteen months from October 1, 2024 to March 31, 2026. Consequently, the financial information for Financial Year 2024-26 is not comparable with that of the previous financial year, which covered a period of twelve months from October 1, 2023 to September 30, 2024. Percentages and growth rates, where presented, should therefore be read with this limitation in mind.

During the Financial Year 2024-26 (18 months), New Orders increased by 43.7 percent at ₹ 338,678 million. Sales (excluding Other operating revenues) increased by 26.8 percent to ₹ 256,677 million. Profit after Tax (PAT) was at ₹ 25,460 million. The above financial performance is for total operations of the Company.

The Company's Operating Profit Margin (percent) and Net Profit Margin (percent) for Financial Year 2024-26 was 10.4 and 9.9. The Company's Debtors Turnover stood at 6.7 times while Inventory Turnover was at 7.8 times. The current ratio was 2.7 and debt-equity ratio was 0.02.

The details of change in Return on Net Worth are as under:

Particulars	Financial Year 2024-26 (percent)	Financial Year 2024 (percent)
Return on Net Worth (after tax)	17.7	18.9

DIGITAL INDUSTRIES

The Company's Digital Industries (DI) business provides technologies for automation and digitalization of discrete, hybrid and process industries, enabling customers to combine the real and digital worlds and advance their transformation into adaptive and sustainable digital enterprises. Its portfolio comprises industrial software, automation and drive technologies, supporting the manufacturing value chain from product design and engineering to production, operations and lifecycle optimization. Through Siemens Xcelerator and its Digital Enterprise solutions, the business helps industries, general engineering segments and original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) improve flexibility, productivity and efficiency, including those engaged in machine tools, printing, packaging and various other domains. The business environment is primarily driven by core sector industries.

During the Financial Year 2024-26, the DI business operated in a stable demand environment, with customers increasingly prioritizing digital transformation, standardization and data driven operations over capacity expansion. Investments were driven by the need to enhance productivity, operational resilience and sustainability, particularly across brownfield manufacturing environments. The business supported customers in scaling digital solutions across plants and production lines, leveraging software, connected automation and real-time data analytics to enable faster, more informed decision making and continuous performance optimization.

The year saw increased adoption of Industrial Edge, industrial software and digital twin technologies, enabling customers to virtualize assets, integrate IT and OT systems, and optimize processes across the manufacturing lifecycle. Solutions incorporating advanced analytics and AI-supported applications helped customers improve asset utilization, energy efficiency and quality, while ensuring secure and interoperable operations.

During the 18-month period, the Company further strengthened its partnerships across multiple industry verticals through software and services-led offerings. Key focus areas included Industrial Edge, IT/OT integration, Industrial Cybersecurity, Digital Twin and Industrial AI, with growing demand across renewables, metals, food & beverage, water & wastewater, machine building and other discrete and process industries. The business received several orders for automation, digitalization and customer services, including cybersecurity and IT/OT integration. DI also engaged customers through various industry platforms, highlighting advancements in AI enabled engineering, connected automation and software defined manufacturing.

For the Financial Year 2024-26, New Orders increased by 74.5 percent to ₹ 58,577 million, Sales (excluding Other Operating Revenues) increased by 45.1 percent to ₹ 56,995 million, while Profit from Operations stood at ₹ 3,042 million, compared to ₹ 4,930 million in the previous year.

Outlook

Core industries continue to demonstrate steady growth, supported by infrastructure investments, and manufacturing-focused government initiatives. The emergence of sectors such as semiconductors, batteries and electronics presents additional opportunities for the DI business. With its strong portfolio of Digital Enterprise solutions, industrial software, connected automation, Industrial Edge, Industrial AI, cybersecurity and IT/OT integration, the DI business is well positioned to support Indian industries in improving competitiveness, resilience, and sustainability.

MOBILITY

The Company's Mobility business is constantly innovating its portfolio. Its core areas include rolling stock, rail automation and electrification, a comprehensive software portfolio, and turnkey systems as well as related services. With digital products and solutions, and the use of industrial AI, the business is enabling mobility operators to make their infrastructure intelligent, increase value sustainably over the entire lifecycle, enhance passenger experience, and guarantee availability.

Among the highlights of the Financial Year, the Mobility business secured an order from IRCON International Limited worth approximately ₹ 2,084 million for the electrification of the Sivok–Rangpo rail line. This is part of the first electrified rail line in the region, connecting Sikkim to the national rail grid.

Hon'ble Prime Minister of India, Shri Narendra Modi, flagged off the first of the new D9 – 9000 HP electric locomotives at Indian Railways' factory in Dahod, Gujarat. This follows the award to the Company in January 2023 for the design, engineering, manufacturing, and maintenance of 1,200 electric locomotives of 9000 horsepower (HP). The locomotives are equipped with Siemens' Railigent X platform for predictive maintenance, ensuring the highest availability and performance.

A Siemens consortium is equipping India's first High-Speed Rail project with advanced signaling and telecommunication technologies. The consortium, led by Dineshchandra R. Agrawal Infracon Private Limited, Siemens Limited, and Siemens Mobility GmbH, has been awarded a landmark contract by the National High Speed Rail Corporation Limited (NHSRCL), the implementing agency for the project. The order, valued at approximately ₹ 41,400 million, includes Siemens Limited's share of ₹ 12,300 million for the design, installation, and long-term maintenance of advanced signaling and telecommunications technologies.

The Mobility business received two separate orders from Maharashtra Metro Rail Corporation Limited (MAHA-METRO), aggregating to approximately ₹ 7,873 million. These orders cover the design, manufacture, supply, installation, testing, and commissioning of Communication-Based Train Control (CBTC) signaling technology for the Nagpur Metro Rail Project Phase 2 (including augmentation of Phase 1), as well as advanced telecommunication technologies for the same phase.

This Mobility business also received an internal work allocation from its group company for manufacturing and supply of bogies, traction motors and gearboxes, valued at ₹ 18,250 million, on March 25, 2026.

The Mobility business executed several key landmark projects and installed state-of-the-art technologies across major projects, including the Ahmedabad Metro Rail Project – Phase II, the Udhampur–Srinagar–Baramulla Rail Link (including the longest rail tunnel of 12.8 kilometers in the Pir Panjal range at an altitude of approximately 1,700 meters above sea level), three new lines for the Kolkata Metro, and the Yellow Line for the Bengaluru Metro.

Siemens Limited showcased its comprehensive portfolio of next-generation rail technologies, infrastructure solutions, and digital innovations at the 16th International Railway Equipment Exhibition (IREE) 2025, Asia's largest event for the rail transportation sector. Under the banner 'We Transform Mobility in India', Siemens demonstrated how it is enabling safer, greener, and more efficient transport systems through real-time digitalization, advanced electrification, and localized manufacturing. The Company's innovations support India's goals of 100% railway electrification, net-zero emissions, and enhanced passenger convenience.

For the Financial Year, new orders increased by 153.2 percent to ₹ 79,207 million. Sales (excluding other operating revenues) increased by 72.8 percent to ₹ 46,982 million, while profit from operations stood at ₹ 2,608 million, compared to ₹ 1,498 million in the previous year.

Outlook

The Union Budget 2026–27 has strengthened the overall outlook by reinforcing rail as a backbone of national infrastructure, spanning high-speed passenger corridors, freight-led logistics efficiency, and future-ready urban mobility. The focus of the business remains firmly on deploying advanced signaling, electrification, rolling stock, and rail infrastructure technologies that are digitally enabled, safety-led, and manufactured in India for India and the world. While the Mobility business participates in many of these opportunities, its order position remains largely dependent on the timing of when these opportunities are tendered.

SMART INFRASTRUCTURE

The Company's Smart Infrastructure (SI) business is the preferred technology partner for critical and premium infrastructure, enhancing the way people live and work, while significantly improving efficiency and sustainability. It is shaping the market for intelligent, adaptive infrastructure for today and the future. "Smart infrastructure is sustainable infrastructure." The business helps pave the way to an all-electric world by supporting the transition from fossil energy sources to renewable energy sources and enabling the growth of e mobility. The business also helps buildings – which account for 40 percent of the world's energy use – become more human-centric and autonomous, and as a result, more sustainable.

SI provides customers with a comprehensive end-to-end automation and digitalization portfolio from a single source, encompassing products, software, systems, solutions, and services – from the point of power generation all the way to consumption. The SI business performed well during the Financial Year 2024-26, with increased demand from sectors such as grid infrastructure, including power utilities and renewables, urban infrastructure, including data centers and ports, industrial infrastructure, including minerals & metals and oil & gas, as well as emerging industries such as semiconductors.

The SI business showcased its wide range of products, solutions, and services at industry events attended by decision-makers, policymakers, technology providers, ecosystem partners, and customers. This included Siemens Xcelerator offerings such as Building X, Electrification X, and Gridscale X, which help grid, urban, and industrial infrastructure customers on their digital transformation journeys. This resulted in appreciation from numerous customers for the impact created in addressing their operational challenges.

For the financial year, New Orders increased by 83.6 percent to ₹ 134,523 million, Sales (excluding other operating revenues) increased by 74.7 percent to ₹ 111,790 million, while Profit from Operations stood at ₹ 15,045 million compared to ₹ 9,077 million in the previous year.

Outlook

A significant contributor to the demand for Smart Infrastructure offerings is the rapid pace of India's urbanization. Investments are expected to continue toward modernization of power distribution networks, integration of renewables, and expansion of e-charging infrastructure, driven by the increasing adoption of electric vehicles by both public transportation authorities and consumers. Urban infrastructure growth is also evident in the commercial buildings sector, transportation, and data centers. India's data center capacity is set for accelerated growth and is expected to more than double by 2030, with significant capacity expansion already underway over the next three to four years. This growth is being driven by AI workloads, hyperscale cloud investments, and strong policy support. Continued expansion of manufacturing facilities is also anticipated, benefiting from investments in infrastructure such as minerals & metals and oil & gas, as well as new investments in emerging industries.

ENERGY

During the Financial Year 2024-26, the now-listed Siemens Energy India Limited was operating as a segment of the Company until February 28, 2025. During Financial Year 2024, the Board of Directors of Siemens Limited had approved the proposal to demerge its Energy business into a separate legal entity. Siemens Energy India Limited was subsequently listed in June 2025. As per the scheme of arrangement, shareholders of Siemens Limited received 1 (one) equity share of Siemens Energy India Limited for every 1 (one) equity share of Siemens Limited. The new entity is listed on the BSE Limited and National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The demerger has led to the creation of two strong and independent entities which are able to better address their respective markets and customers with a more focused approach.

For the period October 1, 2024 to February 28, 2025, Sales (excluding Other operating revenues) of the Energy business was ₹ 25,459 million and Profit from Operations was ₹ 5,636 million.

Portfolio Companies – Low Voltage Motors

Low Voltage Motors segment designs, researches, develops, tests, maintains, repairs, distributes, markets, offers for sale and sells low voltage AC motors designed for direct on-line applications or low voltage AC motors designed in their mechanical dimensions in accordance with the IEC Standard and with cooling fins at the motor's surface, including the motor ranges 1LE7, 1SE0, 1LA2, 1PQ0, 1LA8, 1PQ8, 1MB7 and customized products 1PT0 and 1PC7, geared low voltage motors. It also provides customer services, spare parts and ancillary products related to these products.

In December 2025, the Company announced that its Board of Directors has approved the sale of its Low Voltage Motors business as a going concern on a slump sale basis, to Innomotics India Private Limited for a consideration (enterprise value) of ₹ 22,000 million, on a cash-free, debt-free basis, subject to mutually agreed adjustments.

During the Financial Year 2024-26, Sales (excluding Other operating revenues) increased by 66.3 percent to ₹ 15,199 million. Profit from Operations was ₹ 710 million.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION, HEALTH MANAGEMENT AND SAFETY

The Company's Environmental Protection, Health Management and Safety (EHS) performance is regularly reviewed by the Heads of Businesses, who actively promote EHS through continuous communication, periodic location and project site visits, and monitoring as an integral part of monthly business review meetings. The EHS performance is also appraised to the Board of Directors quarterly.

During the period, the Company reinforced its commitment to environmental protection, sustainability, employee wellbeing, and maintaining a safe and healthy workplace. To strengthen the safety culture across the organization, various campaigns on focused topics under the broader "Hamari Suraksha Hamara Sankalp" (Our Safety, Our Pledge) campaign continued to effectively promote safe work practices and behaviors by encouraging ownership and proactive safety measures.

The Company continues to foster zero-harm culture through effective implementation of the

- CAPA (Corrective Action, Preventive Action) tracker initiative. 3 CAPA cycles focusing on 265 high-risk and high-frequency activities at factories, offices, project sites and service operations were implemented. This proactive continual process entailed revisit of processes by cross-functional teams, detailed reviews of risk assessments in close collaboration with subject matter experts and implementation of engineering controls wherever feasible.
- Under the implemented Contractor management process, strict assessment and monitoring continued to strengthen contractor's safety compliance.
- Comprehensive Electrical Safety Guidelines were issued to reinforce safety in electrical operations across the Company.
- EHS oversight for service activities through the deployment of a digital solution was extended to service business units.

SITRUST (Global Center of Competence for Safety Skilling, Innovation and Competency Development) imparts flagship programs in electrical technology, manufacturing and occupational safety by strong experienced trainers and high-impact agile training content on the philosophy of practical hands-on and experience-based learning. Through core, customized, and onsite programs, SITRUST trained more than 5,500 participants during the Financial Year 2024-26.

To enhance safety competency in the eco-system, SITRUST extended its footprint at customer's location by establishing a safety training center.

The Company maintained strong focus on employees' psychosocial and physical wellbeing through preventive health check-ups across all locations and health camps at remote project sites. It also organized structured sensitization programs for managers, run in collaboration with the Employee Wellbeing and Assistance Partner, physical health education and mental health awareness sessions.

wood, and cardboard packaging.

Further details are available in the Company's Business Responsibility and Sustainability Report and in "Annexure II – Conservation of Energy" of the Annual Report.

OUTLOOK

The global macroeconomic environment remains uncertain, with the ongoing conflict in West Asia emerging as a significant near-term risk to India's growth trajectory. Elevated crude oil prices, supply chain disruptions, and higher logistics costs are expected to exert pressure on inflation, the current account deficit, and industrial input costs. India's high dependence on imported energy continues to amplify these risks, with crude price volatility directly impacting fiscal balances and consumption demand. While India's underlying macroeconomic fundamentals remain relatively strong, growth forecasts have moderated as higher energy prices and external uncertainties weigh on private consumption, investment sentiment, and sectoral profitability.

In response, the Government of India has undertaken targeted measures to cushion the impact, including reductions in fuel taxes, export controls to ensure domestic supply, and efforts to diversify energy sourcing and strengthen strategic reserves. Monetary policy has remained calibrated, with a focus on balancing inflation risks and growth imperatives. Importantly, the current environment is also accelerating structural policy priorities – namely energy security, supply chain resilience, and domestic manufacturing competitiveness – alongside a sustained push toward electrification, clean energy, and digitalization.

Against this backdrop, the medium- to long-term outlook for Siemens Limited remains positive. While short-term headwinds such as input cost volatility and slower private sector capex may impact execution cycles, the structural drivers underpinning the Company's portfolio are intact. Increased investments in energy transition, grid modernization, rail electrification, and smart infrastructure, coupled with rising demand for digitalization and automation across industry, are expected to create sustained growth opportunities. The ongoing realignment of policy and capital allocation toward resilient, efficient, and low-carbon systems positions Siemens Limited favorably to support India's long-term development priorities while delivering value across its key business verticals.

The Management of the Company believes that growth would be in line with the market in financial year 2027.

Independent Auditor's Report To the Members of Siemens Limited

Report on the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Opinion

1. We have audited the accompanying Standalone financial statements of Siemens Limited ("the Company"), which comprise the Standalone Balance Sheet as at 31 March 2026, and the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss (including Other Comprehensive Income), the Standalone Statement of Changes in Equity and the Standalone Statement of Cash Flows for the eighteen months period ended, and notes to the Standalone financial statements, including material accounting policy information and other explanatory information.

2. In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid Standalone financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the standalone state of affairs of the Company as at 31 March 2026, and standalone total comprehensive income (comprising of profit and other comprehensive loss), standalone changes in equity and its standalone cash flows for the eighteen months period then ended.

Basis for Opinion

3. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) specified under Section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the "Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the Standalone financial statements" section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the Standalone financial statements under the provisions of the Act and the Rules thereunder, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of Matter

4. We draw your attention to Note 59.1 to the Standalone financial statements in respect of the Scheme of Arrangement (the "Scheme") between the Company, Siemens Energy India Limited and their respective shareholders and creditors for demerger of the Energy business of the Company (disclosed as discontinued operations in the Standalone financial statements), which has been approved by the National Company Law Tribunal (the "NCLT") vide its order dated 25 March 2025. The Company has given effect to the Scheme from the 'appointed date' of 1 March 2025, as approved by the NCLT, while the applicable accounting standards require accounting for the Scheme in the books of the Company to be carried out as a distribution of non-cash assets to owners when the distribution is appropriately authorised and is no longer at the discretion of the Company, which is the date of the final Order passed by the NCLT sanctioning the Scheme as aforesaid (i.e., the 'effective date' per the Scheme). Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Key audit matters

5. Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the Standalone financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the Standalone financial statements as a whole and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matter	How our audit addressed the key audit matter
Revenue recognition in respect of construction contracts (Refer Notes 34 and 44 to the Standalone financial statements) A significant portion of the Company's business is from construction contracts with its customers, which generally extend over a long period of time. The contract prices are generally fixed at contract inception, and also include elements of variable consideration such as liquidated damages, claims and multiple performance obligations. In respect of these contracts, the Company recognises revenue over a period of time in accordance with its accounting policy.	Our procedures performed included the following: (a) Obtained an understanding of the business process, evaluated the design and tested the operating effectiveness of key controls, specific to such customer contracts, including determination of contract price, performance obligations, estimation of contract costs, revenue recognition, management reviews and approvals thereof; (b) Assessed the appropriateness of the revenue recognition accounting policies in line with Ind AS 115 'Revenue from Contracts with Customers';

Key audit matter	How our audit addressed the key audit matter
Recognition of contract revenue involves determination of percentage completion of the project. The contract revenue is measured based on the proportion of contract costs incurred for work performed till date, relative to the estimated total contract costs. This method requires the Company to perform an initial assessment of total estimated costs, compare with actual costs incurred and reassess the total estimated costs for completion of contract at each reporting period to determine the appropriate percentage of completion. The estimation involves exercise of significant judgement by the management in making forecasts of future costs to complete the contract considering future activities to be carried out in the contract, which includes determination and assessment of probability related to contract risk contingencies, cost savings or additional costs, warranty costs, adjustments to contract revenue on account of penalties for breach of contract, liquidation damages and consequential provision for foreseeable losses on onerous performance obligations, if any after considering specific circumstances of each contract. Further, based on contractual tenability of claims, price or scope variations and progress of discussions and negotiations with the customers, the Company's management periodically assesses the recoverability of claims and price or scope variations recognised as part of contract, if any, based on certain assumptions. This has been considered as a key audit matter in view of the following: - Contracts with customers are customised and complex in nature; and - Revenue recognition is complex and involves significant management judgements and estimates. These relate to identifying performance obligations, transaction price, estimating the balance cost-to-complete the project and determining the percentage of completion for the purpose of recognizing revenue for the relevant performance obligations.	(c) For selected sample of contracts, performed the following: - Obtained and examined project related documents such as contracts, customer communications and price or scope variation orders; - Tested the contract revenue, determination of performance obligations, including variable consideration with underlying documents (as explained above) and evaluated management's assessment by reviewing the contractual terms as considered necessary; - Assessed the reasonableness of management's basis for determining the total costs, including changes made during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026 by reference to supporting documents and estimates made in relation to cost-to-complete the projects; - Performed a retrospective analysis of costs incurred with planned costs and margins in respect of completed contracts; - Performed procedures with respect to management's development of the budgeted project costs, changes between planned and actual costs, the estimated costs to complete and management's assessment of probabilities related to contract risks; - Tested the mathematical calculation of percentage of completion based on the total estimated costs and the total actual costs incurred and the revenue recognised based on the percentage of completion; - Tested contract asset and contract liability balances based on the status of specific contracts, considering the billing done, revenue recognised and advances received from customer, if any, through the reporting date; - Tested the actual costs incurred and billing done during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026 with supporting documents; (d) Evaluated the adequacy of the disclosures made in the Standalone financial statements.

Other Information

6. The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, but does not include the Standalone financial statements and Consolidated financial statements and our auditor's reports thereon. The annual report is expected to be made available to us after the date of this auditor's report.

   Our opinion on the Standalone financial statements does not cover the other information and we will not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

   In connection with our audit of the Standalone financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above when it becomes available and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the Standalone financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

   When we read the annual report, if we conclude that there is a material misstatement therein, we are required to communicate the matter to those charged with governance and take appropriate action as applicable under the relevant laws and regulations.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the Standalone financial statements

7. The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in Section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these Standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view of the Standalone financial position, Standalone financial performance, Standalone changes in equity and Standalone cash flows of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of the Act. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the Standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

8. In preparing the Standalone financial statements, the Board of Directors is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Board of Directors either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

9. Those Board of Directors are also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the Standalone financial statements

10. Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Standalone financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these Standalone financial statements.

11. As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

    - Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Standalone financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
    - Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to Standalone financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
    - Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the Standalone financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the Standalone financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the Standalone financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

12. We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

13. We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

14. From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the Standalone financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Auditor's responsibility

3. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to Standalone financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing specified under Section 143(10) of the Act to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of internal financial controls and both issued by the ICAI. Annexure B to the Independent Auditor's Report

Referred to in paragraph 15 of the Independent Auditor's Report of even date to the members of Siemens Limited on the Standalone financial statements as of and for the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026

In terms of the information and explanations sought by us and furnished by the Company, and the books of account and records examined by us during the course of our audit, and to the best of our knowledge and belief, we report that:

(i) (a) (A) The Company is maintaining proper records showing full particulars, including quantitative details and situation, of property, plant and equipment, investment properties and non-current assets held for sale.

(B) The Company is maintaining proper records showing full particulars of intangible assets.

(b) The property, plant and equipment, investment properties and non-current assets held for sale of the Company are physically verified by the Management according to a phased programme designed to cover all the items over a period of 3 years which, in our opinion, is reasonable having regard to the size of the Company and the nature of its assets. Pursuant to the programme, a portion of the property, plant and equipment, investment properties and non-current assets held for sale has been physically verified by the Management during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026 and no material discrepancies have been noticed on such verification.

(c) The title deeds of all the immovable properties (other than properties where the Company is the lessee and the lease agreements are duly executed in favour of the lessee), as disclosed in Notes 3, 5, 45.1 and 58 to the Standalone financial statements, are held in the name of the Company, except for the following:

(₹ in million)

Description of property	Gross carrying value	Held in the name of	Whether promoter, director or their relative or employee	Period held since	Reason for not being held in the name of the Company
Leasehold land	5	iMetrex Technologies Limited	No	2012	Title deed is in dispute and matter is now pending with State Industries Promotion Corporation of Tamil Nadu Limited.

(d) The Company has not revalued its property, plant and equipment (including right-of-use assets) or intangible assets or both during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026. Consequently, the question of our commenting on whether the revaluation is based on the valuation by a Registered Valuer, or specifying the amount of change, if the change is 10% or more in the aggregate of the net carrying value of each class of property, plant and equipment (including right-of-use assets) or intangible assets does not arise.

(e) No proceedings have been initiated on or are pending against the Company for holding benami property under the Prohibition of Benami Property Transactions Act, 1988 (as amended in 2016) [formerly the Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988 (45 of 1988)] and Rules made thereunder, and therefore the question of our commenting on whether the Company has appropriately disclosed the details in the Standalone financial statements, does not arise.

(ii) (a) The physical verification of inventory (excluding stocks with third parties) has been conducted at reasonable intervals by the Management during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026 and, in our opinion, the coverage and procedure of such verification by Management is appropriate. In respect of inventory lying with third parties, these have substantially been confirmed by them. The discrepancies noticed on physical verification of inventory as compared to book records were not 10% or more in aggregate for each class of inventory.

(b) During the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026, the Company has been sanctioned working capital limits in excess of ₹ 5 crores (or ₹ 50 million), in aggregate, from a bank on the basis of security of current assets. The Company has filed quarterly returns or statements with such bank, which are in agreement with the unaudited books of account.

(iii) (a) The Company has granted unsecured loans to employees and placed inter-corporate deposits with two companies during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026. The aggregate amount during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026, and balance outstanding at the balance sheet date with respect to such loans to employees and inter-corporate deposits placed are as per the table given below:

(Also, refer Notes 9 and 18 to the Standalone financial statements)

The Company has not made any investments or stood guarantee or provided security to any parties during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026. Accordingly, to that extent, reporting under clause 3(iii), (iii)(a), (iii)(b), (iii)(c), (iii)(d), (iii)(e) and (iii)(f) of the Order is not applicable to the Company.

(b) In respect of the aforesaid loans to employees and inter-corporate deposits, the terms and conditions under which such loans were granted and inter-corporate deposits were placed, are not prejudicial to the Company's interest.

(c) In respect of the inter-corporate deposits, the schedule of repayment of principal and payment of interest has been stipulated, and the parties are repaying the principal amounts, as stipulated, and are also regular in payment of interest as applicable. Further, the Company has granted interest-free loans to its employees and, accordingly, the question of our commenting on regularity of payment of interest does not arise. However, in respect of such loans where the schedule of repayment of principal has been stipulated, the employees are repaying the principal amounts as stipulated.

(d) In respect of the loans to employees and inter-corporate deposits, there is no amount which is overdue for more than ninety days.

(e) There were no loans to employees or inter-corporate deposits, which have fallen due during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026 and were renewed/extended. Further, no fresh loans to employees or inter-corporate deposits were granted to/placed with same parties to settle the existing overdue loans or inter-corporate deposits.

(f) There were no loans or advances in nature of loans which were granted during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026, including to promoters/related parties that were repayable on demand or without specifying any terms or period of repayment.

(iv) The Company has not granted any loans or made any investment or provided any guarantees or security to the parties covered under Section 185 of the Act. Therefore, the reporting under clause 3(iv) of the Order, to that extent, is not applicable to the Company.

In our opinion, the Company has complied with the provisions of Section 186 of the Companies Act, 2013 in respect of the loans and investments made. The Company has not provided any guarantee or security to any parties covered under Section 186 of the Act.

(v) The Company has not accepted any deposits or amounts which are deemed to be deposits referred in Sections 73, 74, 75 and 76 of the Act and the Rules framed there under. Accordingly, the reporting under clause 3(v) of the Order is not applicable to the Company.

(vi) Pursuant to the rules made by the Central Government of India, the Company is required to maintain cost records as specified under Section 148(1) of the Act in respect of its certain products. We have broadly reviewed the books of account maintained by the Company pursuant to the said requirement, and are of the opinion that, prima facie, the prescribed accounts and records have been made and maintained. We have not, however, made a detailed examination of the records with a view to determine whether they are accurate or complete.

(vii) (a) In our opinion, the Company is regular in depositing the undisputed statutory dues, including Goods and Services Tax, Provident Fund, Employees' State Insurance, Income Tax, Sales Tax, Service Tax, Duty of Customs, Duty of Excise, Value Added Tax, Cess, and other statutory dues, as applicable, with the appropriate authorities.

(b) There are no statutory dues of Provident Fund and Employees' State Insurance which have not been deposited on account of any dispute. 1.3 Property, plant and equipment (Continued)

Assets	Estimated useful lives
Office equipment
- Computers	3 years
- Hardware, mainframes and servers	5 years
- Other office equipments	3 - 5 years
Vehicles	4 years

If significant parts of property, plant and equipment have different useful lives, then they are accounted as separate items (major components) of property, plant and equipment.

Items of property, plant and equipment that have been retired from active use and are held for disposal are stated at the lower of their carrying value and estimated net realizable value and are disclosed separately in financial statements. Any gain or loss on disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised in the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss.

Capital work-in-progress includes the cost of property, plant and equipment that are not ready for intended use at the Balance Sheet date.

Advances paid towards the acquisition of property, plant and equipment outstanding at each Balance Sheet date is classified as capital advances under "Other non-current assets".

1.4 Intangible assets and Goodwill

Intangible assets comprise of software, technical know-how, customer contracts and customer relationships. Intangible assets are stated at cost of acquisition less accumulated amortisation and impairment losses, if any. These intangible assets are amortised on straight-line basis based on the following useful lives, which in management's estimate represents the period during which economic benefits will be derived from their use:

Assets	Estimated useful lives
Software	3 - 5 years
Technical know-how	5 - 10 years
Customer Contracts	10 years
Customer Relationships	10 years

Goodwill and intangible assets that have an indefinite useful life are not subject to amortisation and are tested annually for impairment, or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that they might be impaired.

Research and Development

Research and development expenditure that do not meet the criteria for capitalization are recognized as an expense as incurred. Development costs previously recognized as an expense are not recognized as an asset in a subsequent period.

1.5 Investment properties

Investments in land or buildings (including property under construction) which are held to earn rentals and/or for capital appreciation are classified as investment properties. Investment properties are initially measured at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are stated at cost, net of accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any.

The cost comprises purchase price and directly attributable cost of bringing the investment property to its working condition capable for the intended use.

Depreciation on investment property is provided on a straight-line basis over the useful lives of assets estimated by the management. Such classes of investment properties and their estimated useful lives are as under:

Assets	Estimated useful lives
Land- Freehold land	NA
Buildings	30 years

1. Material accounting policies (Continued)

1.5 Investment properties (Continued)

Investment properties are derecognised either when they have been disposed of or when they are permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefit is expected from their disposal. On disposal of an investment property, the difference between its carrying amount and net disposal proceeds is recognised in the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.6 Revenue recognition

Revenue at point in time

Revenue from sale of products is recognised when control of the goods is transferred to the customer, which is usually on dispatch or delivery of goods to the customer and there are no unfulfilled obligations that could affect the customer's acceptance of the goods, at an amount (transaction price) that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods.

Revenue from services includes sale of spares in relation to the customer service business of the Company. Revenue from spares is recognized on satisfaction of performance obligation to the customer at a point in time and is measured based on the consideration specified in a contract with the customer.

Revenue over time

Revenue from contracts with customers (Product, project and services) is recognized over the period of time if any of the below mentioned criteria is met:

1. The Customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefits as the Company performs. The same includes plant operations and maintenance, customer services, etc.
2. The Company's performance creates or enhances an asset that the customer controls as the asset is created or enhanced.
3. The Company's performance does not create an asset with an alternative use to the Company and the Company has an enforceable right to payment for performance completed to date.

When the outcome of a project contract can be estimated reliably and the contracts fulfill over the period of time revenue criteria, revenue is recognized using input method based on the percentage of costs incurred to date compared to the total estimated contract costs. The Company uses input method because it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer which occurs as it incurs costs on contracts. Further, revenue from services such as annual maintenance contracts, integrated plant operations and upgradation services are recognized over time using straight line or input method, which best depicts the transfer of control to the customer, as applicable.

Transaction price for projects is the amount which the entity expects to receive from customer in exchange for transferring promised goods or services to a customer, excluding amounts collected on behalf of third parties. The Company includes certain variable considerations as part of transaction price such as price escalations, performance related incentives and penalties including liquidated damages. The amount of variable consideration is estimated considering the expected value method or most likely amount method as appropriate in a given circumstance to the extent it is highly probable that the significant reversal of revenue will not occur.

An expected loss on the project contract is recognised as an expense immediately. Contract revenue earned in excess of billing has been reflected as "Contract assets" and billing in excess of contract revenue has been reflected under "Contract liabilities" in the Standalone Balance Sheet. Contract assets and liabilities are netted off at contract level. The amount of retention money held by the customers pending completion of performance is disclosed as part of contract asset and is reclassified as trade receivables when it has unconditional right to consideration. A right to consideration is unconditional if only the passage of time is required before payment of that consideration is due.

Multiple performance obligations

If a contract contains more than one distinct product or service, the transaction price is allocated to each performance obligation based on relative Standalone selling prices. If Standalone selling prices are not observable, the Company reasonably estimates those. Revenue is recognized for each performance obligation either at a point in time or over time, as appropriate. In the Company's case, typically such multiple performance obligations include supply of products, projects and services.

Refund Liabilities

Refund liabilities are the obligation to refund part or all of the consideration received (or receivable) from the customer.

The liability is measured at the amount the Company ultimately expects it will have to return to the customer.

The Company updates its estimate of refund liabilities (and the corresponding change in the transaction price) at the end of each reporting period.

Refund liabilities include:

a. Trade and Quantity discounts which are based on the terms and conditions agreed with the customer.

b. Liquidated damages which are provided based on contractual terms when the delivery / commissioning dates of an individual project have exceeded or are likely to exceed the delivery / commissioning dates as per the respective contracts.

Revenue is stated exclusive of Goods and Services Tax and net of consideration payable to customers, including refund liabilities.

Payment terms in revenue contract is dependent on the nature of contract and terms and conditions agreed with the customers and may vary significantly. Contracts may have financing component which are appropriately recognised in the financial statements.

For the significant judgements used in determining revenue, refer Judgements in note 2(a).

Commission Income

Commission income is recognised as and when the terms of the contract are fulfilled along with the proof of shipment being received from the supplier.

Export Incentives

Export incentives are recognized, when the right to receive the credit is established on export of goods in accordance with the underlying scheme and there is no significant uncertainty regarding the realisability of the incentive.

1.7 Interest income

Interest income on financial assets at amortised cost is recognised on time proportion basis using the effective interest rate method, based on the underlying interest rates.

1.8 Dividend income

Dividends are recognised when the right to receive payment is established. This is applied even if they are paid out of pre-acquisition profits unless the dividend clearly represents a recovery of cost of the investment.

1.9 Inventories

Inventories comprise all costs of purchase, conversion and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

Raw materials, work-in-progress, finished goods and traded goods are carried at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost is determined on the basis of the weighted average method.

The net realisable value of work-in-progress and finished goods is determined with reference to the estimated selling price less estimated cost of completion and estimated costs necessary to make the sale. Raw materials held for the production of finished goods are not written down below cost except in case where material prices have declined and it is estimated that the cost of the finished product will exceed its net realisable value. Provisions are made for slow moving and obsolete inventories based on estimates made by the Company.

1.10 Leases

The Company's lease asset classes primarily consist of leases for land and buildings, vehicles and plant and equipment. Vehicles taken on lease have been provided to the employees of the Company. The Company assesses whether a contract is (or contains) a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is (or contains), a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Company assesses whether:

(i) the contract involves the use of an identified asset;

(ii) the Company has substantially all the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease;

(iii) the Company has the right to direct the use of the asset.

Where the Company is the lessee :

At the date of commencement of the lease, the Company recognises a Right-of-Use asset ("ROU") and a corresponding Lease Liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of twelve months or less (short term leases) and leases of low value assets. For these short term and leases of low value assets, the Company recognises the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

The ROU assets are initially recognised at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or prior to the commencement date of the lease plus any initial direct costs less any lease incentives. They are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. Contracts may contain both lease and non-lease components. The Company allocates the consideration in the contract to the lease and non-lease components based on their stand-alone prices. However, for leases of real estate for which the Company is a lessee, it has elected not to separate lease and non-lease components and instead accounts for these as a single lease component.

ROU assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term and useful life of the underlying asset.

The lease liability is initially measured at the present value of the future lease payments. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the incremental borrowing rates. The lease liability is subsequently remeasured by increasing the carrying amount to reflect interest on the lease liability, reducing the carrying amount to reflect the lease payments made.

A lease liability is remeasured upon the occurrence of certain events such as re-assessment of the lease term or a change in an index rate used to determine lease payments. The remeasurement normally also adjusts the ROU assets and impact of gain/loss on modification is given in the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss.

Lease liability and ROU asset have been separately presented in the Standalone Balance Sheet and Lease payments have been classified as financing cash flows.

Where the Company is the lessor :

Assets subject to operating leases are included in property, plant and equipment and investment properties. Lease income is recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Costs, including depreciation are recognised as an expense in the Standalone statement of Profit and loss. Initial direct costs such as legal costs, brokerage costs, etc. are recognised immediately in the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss.

Sub-lease

When the Company is an intermediate lessor, it accounts for its interests in the head lease and the sub-lease separately. It assesses the lease classification of a sub-lease with reference to the right-of-use asset arising from the head lease. To classify sub-lease, the Company makes an overall assessment of whether the lease transfers substantially all of the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of the underlying asset. If substantially all of the risks and rewards incidental to ownership are transferred, then sub-lease is classified as a finance lease; or otherwise, it is classified as an operating lease.

If sub-lease is operating lease, then rental income is accounted for on a straight-line basis over the lease terms. If sub-lease is finance lease, then Company derecognises the right of use asset on the head lease and recognises a net investment in the sub-lease.

1.11 Employee benefits

a. Short-term employee benefits

All employee benefits payable wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short-term employee benefits. Benefits such as salaries, wages and short-term compensated absences, etc. and the expected cost of ex-gratia and variable compensation are recognised in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

b. Post-employment and other long-term benefits

(i) Defined contribution plans: The Company's approved superannuation scheme and employee state insurance scheme are defined contribution plans. The Company's contribution payable under the schemes is recognised as expense in the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss during the period in which the employee renders the related service.

(ii) Defined benefit plans and other long-term benefits: The Company's gratuity, pension and medical benefit schemes are defined benefit plans. Compensated absences, retention bonus, silver jubilee and star awards are other long-term benefits. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plans and other long-term benefits are determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method, which recognizes each period of service as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation. In case of funded plans, the fair value of the plan assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans to recognize the obligation on a net basis.

Provident fund has been considered as a defined benefit plan since any additional obligations on account of investment risk and interest rate risk are required to be met by the Company.

In case of defined benefit plans, comprising gratuity, pension, post-retirement medical benefits and provident fund, remeasurement comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability or asset) and any change in the effect of asset ceiling (wherever applicable) is recognized in other comprehensive income (OCI) and is reflected in retained earnings and is not eligible to be reclassified to profit or loss. In case of other long term benefits, all remeasurements including actuarial gain or loss are charged to the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss.

The Company recognizes following items in the net defined benefit obligation as an expense in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss:

- Service cost including current service cost, past service cost – plan amendments and gains and losses on curtailments and settlements; and
- Net interest expense or income.

For the purpose of presentation, the allocation between current and non-current provisions has been made as determined by an actuary, as applicable.

Provision for compensated absences are presented as current liabilities, as the Company does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least 12 months after the reporting period, regardless of when the actual settlement is expected to occur.

1.12 Share-based payment

Share-based payment consists of share awards of the Ultimate Holding Company to the employees of the Company, which subsequently makes a recharge to the Company. These awards are predominantly designed as equity-settled transactions as the ultimate obligation to settle the transaction is on the Ultimate Holding Company. The costs of stock awards granted to the employees of the Company are measured at the fair value of the stock awards granted of the Ultimate Holding Company. For each stock award, the measurement of fair value is performed on the grant date.

The cost is recognised in the statement of profit or loss, together with a corresponding increase in stock awards reserve in equity, over the period in which the service conditions are fulfilled. At the end of each reporting period upto the date of settlement, the Company remeasures the fair value of the liability based on the share price of the Ultimate Holding Company with a corresponding adjustment to equity.

1.13 Financial instruments

Financial assets and/or financial liabilities are recognised when the Company becomes party to a contract embodying the related financial instruments.

Initial recognition and measurement

On initial recognition, financial assets are recognised at fair value except trade receivables which are recognized at transaction price which do not contain a significant financing component. In case of financial assets which are recognised at fair value through Profit and loss (FVTPL), its transaction costs are recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss. In other cases, the transaction costs are added to the acquisition value of the financial asset.

Subsequent measurement

For purposes of subsequent measurement, financial assets are classified in the below categories:

a. Financial assets at amortised cost;

b. Financial assets including derivatives at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL); and

c. Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI).

d. Equity investment in subsidiaries and associate

For trade and other receivables maturing within one year from the Balance Sheet date, the carrying amounts approximate fair value, due to the short maturity of these instruments.

a. Financial assets at amortised cost

Financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost if these financial assets are held within a business where the objective is to hold these assets in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

After initial measurement, such financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortisation is included in finance income in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss. The losses arising from impairment are recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss. This category generally applies to trade and other receivables, loans and other financial assets.

b. Financial Assets including derivatives at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)

Financial assets are measured at fair value through Profit and loss unless it is measured at amortised cost or at fair value through other comprehensive income on initial recognition. The transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are immediately recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss.

c. Financial Assets at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI)

A financial asset is subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if it is held within a business where the objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

d. Equity investment in subsidiaries and associate

Investment in equity instruments issued by the subsidiaries is measured at cost less impairment.

Investment in equity instruments issued by the associate is measured at fair value through profit or loss.

Derecognition

A financial asset is primarily derecognised when:

a. the right to receive cash flows from the asset has expired, or

b. the Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a pass-through arrangement; and a) the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or b) the Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

On derecognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the differences between the carrying amounts measured at the date of derecognition and the consideration received is recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss.

Impairment of financial assets

The Company applies the expected credit loss (ECL) model for recognition and measurement of impairment losses on the following financial assets and credit risk exposures:

a. Financial assets that are debt instruments, and are measured at amortised cost e.g., loans, deposits, and bank balance.

b. Financial assets that are debt instruments and are measured as at FVTOCI.

c. Lease receivables under Ind AS 116.

d. Trade receivables, contract assets or any contractual right to receive cash or another financial asset that result from transactions that are within the scope of Ind AS 115.

The Company follows the simplified approach for recognition of impairment loss allowance on trade receivables and contract assets. The application of the simplified approach does not require the Company to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition. As a practical expedient, the Company uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss allowance on trade receivables and contract assets.

For recognition of impairment loss on other financial assets and risk exposure, the Company determines whether there has been a significant increase in the credit risk since initial recognition. If credit risk has not increased significantly, twelve-month ECL is used to provide for impairment loss. However, if credit risk has increased significantly, lifetime ECL is used. If in a subsequent period, credit quality of the instrument improves such that there is no longer a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition, then the Company reverts to recognising impairment loss allowance based on twelve-month ECL.

Lifetime ECL are the expected credit losses resulting from all possible default events over the expected life of a financial instrument. The twelve-month ECL is a portion of the lifetime ECL which results from default events that are possible within twelve months after the reporting date.

ECL is the difference between net of all contractual cash flows that are due to the Company in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the Company expects to receive (i.e., all cash shortfalls), discounted at the original EIR.

Impairment of non-financial assets

The Company assesses at each Balance Sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset or a group of assets (cash generating unit) may be impaired. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset or cash generating unit.

Financial liabilities

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL), payables, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate.

On initial recognition, financial liabilities are recognised at fair value. In case of financial liabilities which are recognised at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL), its transaction costs are recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and loss. In other cases, the transaction costs are added to the acquisition or issue of the financial liabilities.

The Company's financial liabilities include trade and other payables and derivative financial instruments.

Subsequent measurement

Financial liabilities, including derivatives and embedded derivatives, which are designated for measurement at FVTPL are subsequently measured at fair value. All other financial liabilities such as deposits are measured at amortised cost using EIR method.

For trade and other payables maturing within one year from the Balance Sheet date, the carrying amounts approximate fair value, due to the short maturity of these instruments.

Derecognition

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expired. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as the derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss.

Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the Standalone Balance Sheet if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

1.14 Foreign currency transactions

The Company is exposed to currency fluctuations on foreign currency transactions. Transactions denominated in foreign currency are recorded at the exchange rate prevailing on the date of transactions.

Exchange differences arising on foreign exchange transactions settled during the year are recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss for the year.

Translation

Monetary assets and liabilities in foreign currency, which are outstanding as at the year-end, are translated at the year-end at the closing exchange rate and the resultant exchange differences are recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and loss. Non-monetary items are stated in the Standalone Balance Sheet using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction / date when fair value was determined.

Derivative instruments and hedge accounting

The Company's exposure to foreign currency fluctuations relates to foreign currency assets, liabilities and forecasted cash flows. The Company limits the effects of foreign exchange rate fluctuations by following established risk management policies including the use of derivatives like forward contracts. The Company enters forward exchange contracts, where the counterparty is a bank. The hedging strategy is used for mitigating the currency fluctuation risk and the Company does not use the forward exchange contracts for trading or speculative purpose. The Company uses forward contracts to mitigate its risks associated with foreign currency fluctuations having underlying transaction and relating to firm commitments or highly probable foreign currency forecasted purchase and sale transactions.

The forward exchange contracts are re-measured at fair value at each reporting date with the resultant gains/ losses thereon being recorded in Standalone statement of Profit and loss, except that are designated as hedges.

Commodity risk is mitigated by entering into future contracts to hedge against fluctuation in commodity prices.

The Company designates some of the foreign currency forward contracts in a cash flow hedging relationship by applying the hedge accounting principles.

These forward contracts are stated at fair value at each reporting date. Changes in the effective portion of fair value of these forward contracts that are designated as hedges of future cash flows are recognised directly in OCI and reflected in cash flow hedge reserve, net of applicable deferred income taxes and the ineffective portion is recognised immediately in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss.

Amounts accumulated in cash flow hedge reserve are reclassified to the Standalone statement of Profit and loss in the periods during which the forecasted transaction materialises.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. For forecasted transactions, any cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument recognised in cash flow hedge reserve is retained there until the forecasted transaction occurs.

If the forecasted transaction is no longer expected to occur, the net cumulative gain or loss recognised in cash flow hedge reserve is immediately transferred to the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss for the period.

1.15 Fair value measurement

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

- Level 1 - Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable.
- Level 3 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

In determining the fair value of its financial instruments, the Company uses a variety of methods and assumptions that are based on market conditions and risks existing at each reporting date. The methods used to determine fair value includes discounted cash flow analysis, available quoted market prices and dealer quotes. All methods of assessing fair value result from general approximation of value and the same may differ from the actual realised value.

1.16 Taxation

Income-tax expense comprises current tax (i.e. amount of tax for the year determined in accordance with the income-tax law) and deferred tax charge or credit (reflecting the tax effect of temporary differences) computed in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961. Current tax and deferred tax are recognised in the Standalone statement of Profit and Loss, except when they relate to items that are recognised in OCI or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

The current tax payable is based on taxable profit for the year. The Company's current tax is calculated using tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted, by the end of the reporting period. Advance taxes and provisions for current income taxes are presented in the Standalone Balance Sheet after off-setting advance tax paid and income tax provision arising in the same tax jurisdiction for the same assessment year and where the relevant taxpaying units intend to settle the asset and liability on a net basis.

Deferred tax is provided using the Balance Sheet method on temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes at the reporting date.

The deferred tax charge or credit and the corresponding deferred tax liabilities or assets are recognised using the tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the Balance Sheet date. Deferred tax assets are generally recognised for all deductible temporary differences to the extent it is probable that taxable profits will be available against those deductible temporary differences and can be realised. Deferred tax assets are reviewed as at each Balance Sheet date and written down to the extent it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax liabilities are not recognized for temporary differences between the carrying amount and tax base of investments in subsidiaries and associate where the Company is able to control the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences and it is not probable that the differences will reverse in foreseeable future and taxable profit will not be available against which the temporary difference can be utilised.

Deferred tax assets are not recognized for temporary differences between the carrying amount and tax base of investments in subsidiaries and associate where it is probable that the differences will not reverse in foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when they relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority and the relevant entity intends to settle its current tax assets and liabilities on a net basis.

Deferred tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity). Deferred tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity.

Uncertain tax positions are reflected in the overall measurement of the Company's tax expense and are based on the most likely amount or the expected value arrived by the Company, which provides a better prediction of the resolution of uncertainty. Uncertain tax positions are monitored and updated as and when new information becomes available, typically upon examination or action by the taxing authorities or through statute expiration and judicial precedent.

1. Material accounting policies (Continued)

1.17 Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are computed by dividing the net profit attributable to equity shareholders for the year, by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the year are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

1.18 Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of past events and it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. If the effect is material, provisions are recognised at present value by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pretax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money. When a contract becomes onerous, the present obligation under the contract is recognised as a provision. These are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date and adjusted to reflect current best estimates.

Disclosures for contingent liability are made when there is a possible and present obligation that arises from past events which is not recognised since it is not probable that there will be an outflow of resources. When there is a possible and present obligation in respect of which the likelihood of outflow of resources is remote, no disclosure is made.

Loss contingencies arising from claims, litigation, assessment, fines, penalties, etc. are recorded when it is probable that a liability has been incurred and the amount can be reasonably estimated.

Provisions for warranty related cost are recognised when the product is sold or service is provided to the customer.

Contingent assets are not recognised in financial statements since this may result in the recognition of income that may never be realised. However, when the realisation of income is virtually certain, then the related asset is not a contingent asset and is recognized.

1.19 Cash and Cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash, cheques in hand, cash at bank and deposits with banks having original maturity of three months or less. Bank deposits with original maturity of up to three months are classified as 'Cash and cash equivalents'. Bank deposits with original maturity of more than three months and deposits with banks that are restricted for withdrawal and usage. are classified as 'Other bank balances'.

1.20 Non-current assets held for sale and discontinued operations

Non-current assets or disposal groups comprising of assets and liabilities are classified as 'held for sale' when all the following criteria are met:

a. decision has been made to sell;

b. the assets are available for immediate sale in its present condition;

c. the assets are being actively marketed; and

d. sale has been agreed or is expected to be concluded within 12 months of the Balance Sheet date.

Subsequently, such non-current assets and disposal groups classified as 'held for sale' are measured at the lower of its carrying value and fair value less costs to sell.

Non-current assets held for sale are not depreciated or amortised.

A discontinued operation is a component of the entity that has been disposed of or is classified as held for sale and represents a separate major line of business or geographical area of operations and is part of a single co-ordinated plan to dispose of such a line of business or area of operations. The results of discontinued operations are presented separately in the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.21 Operating segments:

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker.

1.22 Dividend:

Provision is made for the amount of any dividend declared, being appropriately authorised and no longer at the discretion of the entity, on or before the end of the reporting period but not distributed at the end of the reporting period.

2. Critical estimates and judgments

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenue, expenses, assets and liabilities. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Any revision to accounting estimates is recognised prospectively.

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimating uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, are described below. The Company has based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when the financial statements were prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising that are beyond the control of the Company. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur.

a. Project revenue and costs

The input method places considerable importance on accurate estimates to the extent of progress towards completion and may involve estimates on the scope of deliveries and services required for fulfilling the contractually defined obligations. These significant estimates include total contract costs, total contract revenues, contract risks, including technical, political and regulatory risks, and other judgments viz. variable considerations such as customer incentive claims, liquidated damages, etc. The Company reassesses these estimates on periodic basis and makes appropriate revisions accordingly.

b. Inventories

Inventories are measured at lower of cost or net realisable value. The amount of the write-down is estimated based on expected inventory usefulness or marketability, considering the criteria like slow-moving, technical obsolescence, price level etc.

c. Property, plant and equipment and intangible assets

The charge in respect of periodic depreciation is derived after determining an estimate of an asset's expected useful life. The useful lives of the Company's assets are determined by management at the time the asset is acquired and reviewed periodically, including at each financial year end. The lives are based on historical experience with similar assets as well as anticipation of future events, which may impact their life, such as changes in technology.

d. Leases

The Company use estimates and judgements in identification of leases, lease term assessment considering termination and renewal option and the discounting rate used.

The Company evaluates if an arrangement qualifies to be a lease as per the requirements of Ind AS 116. Identification of a lease requires significant judgement. The Company uses significant judgement in assessing the lease term (including anticipated renewals) and the applicable discount rate. The Company determines the lease term as the non-cancellable period of a lease, together with both periods covered by an option to extend the lease if the Company is reasonably certain to exercise that option; and periods covered by an option to terminate the lease if the Company is reasonably certain not to exercise that option. In assessing whether the Company is reasonably certain to exercise an option to extend a lease, or not to exercise an option to terminate a lease, it considers all relevant facts and circumstances that create an economic incentive for the Company to exercise the option to extend the lease, or not to exercise the option to terminate the lease. The discount rate is generally based on the incremental borrowing rate specific to the lease being evaluated or for a portfolio of leases with similar characteristics.

e. Employee benefits

The Company's obligation for employee benefits is determined based on actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions that may differ from actual developments in the future. These include the determination of the discount rate, future salary increases, attrition, mortality rates and medical inflation rate. Due to the complexities involved in the valuation and its long-term nature, these liabilities are highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted, if needed following actuarial and experience changes.

Refer note 48 for details of the key assumptions used in determining the accounting of these plans.

The parameter most sensitive to change is the discount rate. In determining the appropriate discount rate for plans operated in India, the Actuary considers the interest rates based on Government bond yield.

2. Critical estimates and judgments (Continued)

e. Employee benefits (Continued)

The mortality rate is based on publicly available mortality tables for India. Those mortality tables tend to change only at interval in response to demographic changes. Future salary increases are based on expected future inflation rates. Medical Medical inflation rate is determined based on the analysis done of historical medical expenses, medical premium inflation, industry benchmarks and macroeconomic indicators on long-term.

f. Impairment of financial assets

The Company assesses impairment on financial assets based on Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model. The provision matrix is based on its historically observed default rates over the expected life of the financial assets and is adjusted for forward looking estimates. At every reporting date, the historical observed default rates are updated and changes in forward looking estimates are analysed.

Refer note 51B for details on Impairment of financial assets.

g. Provisions and contingent liabilities

Significant estimates are involved in the determination of provisions related to onerous contracts, warranty costs, legal and regulatory proceedings (legal proceedings) including direct and indirect tax matters. The Company recognises the estimated liability for warranty cost when the products are sold. These estimates are established using historical information on the nature, frequency and average cost of warranty claims and management estimates regarding possible future incidence based on corrective actions or product failures. Management estimates the provision based on historical trends adjusted for any forward looking specific information supplemented by technical evaluation for products/projects and estimate of costs for repairs, replacement, material cost and servicing.

The Company records a provision for expected loss on contracts with customers, where revenue is recognised over time, is recognised when it is probable that the contract costs will exceed contract revenue. For all other contracts, loss order provisions are made when the unavoidable costs of meeting the obligation under the contract exceed the currently estimated economic benefits.

The provision for warranty and onerous contracts is based on the best estimate required to settle the present obligation at the end of reporting period.

Further in respect of the Energy segment, warranties relate to completed projects and products sold, and are determined on the basis of repair and replacement costs resulting from component defects or functional errors, which may cover both warranty and post warranty period. Additionally, non-recurring provisions are recorded due to various factors, such as portfolio changes and customer application that, in general, relate to situations in which the expected failure rates are above normal levels. The measurement of warranty provisions reflects whether the underlying contractual or underlying obligation results from a single obligation or a larger population of items. The amount provided are based on the management judgement and use of assumptions basis best available information, some of which may be for matter that are inherently uncertain and susceptible to change as more relevant data becomes available. Considering these obligations could be concluded over a longer period exceeding 1 year, these have been appropriately discounted to reflect the time value of money.

Legal proceedings including direct and indirect tax matters often involve complex legal issues and are subject to substantial uncertainties. Accordingly, considerable judgment is part of determining whether it is probable that there is a present obligation as a result of a past event at the end of the reporting period, whether it is probable that such a legal proceeding including direct and indirect tax matters will result in an outflow of resources and whether the amount of the obligation can be reliably estimated. Where the Company has assessed that it is only possible, but not probable, that outflow of economic resources will be required, the Company disclosing Contingent liabilities for those matters. Internal and external counsels are generally part of the determination process. All the estimates are revised periodically.

New Standards, Interpretations and Amendments Adopted by the Company

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs had notified the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Second Amendment Rules, 2024 and Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Third Amendment Rules, 2024, respectively, which notified/ amended certain accounting standards (see below), and are effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 April 2024:

(i) Insurance contracts – Ind AS 117; and

(ii) Lease Liability in Sale and Leaseback – Amendments to Ind AS 116.

These amendments did not have any material impact on the amounts recognised in prior periods and are not expected to significantly affect the current or future periods.

New Amendments to Indian Accounting Standards that are not yet effective:

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs has notified the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Amendment Rules, 2025 and Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Second Amendment Rules, 2025, respectively, which amended certain accounting standards which are not yet effective for current eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026.

Amendments effective for the annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 April 2025:

Classification of Liabilities as Current or Non-current and Non-current Liabilities with Covenants –

Amendments to Ind AS 1, Presentation of Financial Statements: These amendments clarified that liabilities are classified as either current or non-current, depending on the rights that exist at the end of the reporting period. Classification is unaffected by the entity's expectations or events after the reporting date (e.g. a breach of covenant). Covenants of loan arrangements will not affect classification of liability as current or non-current at the reporting date if the entity must only comply with the covenants after the reporting date. However, if the entity must comply with a covenant either before or at the reporting date, this will affect the classification as current or non-current even if the covenant is only tested for compliance after the reporting date. The amendments require certain disclosures if an entity classifies a liability as non-current and that liability is subject to covenants that the entity must comply with within 12 months of the reporting date.

Supplier Finance Arrangements:

Amendments to Ind AS 7, Statement of Cash Flows, and Ind AS 107, Financial Instruments: Disclosures: These amendments require specific disclosures about supplier finance arrangements (SFAs). The amendments respond to the investors' need for more information about SFAs to be able to assess how these arrangements affect an entity's liabilities, cash flows and liquidity risk.

International tax reform – Pillar Two model rules:

Amendments to Ind AS 12, Income Taxes: These amendments provide temporary relief from accounting for deferred taxes arising from the implementation of the Pillar Two model rules and introduce targeted disclosure requirements.

Lack of exchangeability:

Amendments to Ind AS 21, The Effects of Changes in Foreign Exchange Rates: The standard has been amended to help entities to determine whether a currency is exchangeable into another currency, and which spot exchange rate to use when it is not.

The Company is in the process of assessing the impact of application of these amendments on the financial statements.

Amendments effective for the annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 April 2026:

Classification of Liabilities as Current or Non-current and Non-current Liabilities with Covenants:

The recent amendments to Ind AS 1 have removed the carve-out from IFRS Accounting Standards which allowed entities to classify liability as non-current on account of breach of a material provision for which the lender has agreed to waive the breach after the end of reporting period but before the approval of the financial statements for issue. This amendment should be applied retrospectively in accordance with the principles of Ind AS 8, Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors.

The Company is in the process of assessing the impact of application of these amendments on the financial statements.

Note:

On 21 November 2025, the Government of India has consolidated multiple existing labour legislations into a unified framework comprising four Labour Codes - the Code on Wages, 2019, the Industrial Relations Code, 2020, the Code on Social Security, 2020, and the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020 - consolidating 29 existing labour laws, collectively referred to as the 'New Labour Codes'. In accordance with Ind AS 19 'Employee Benefits', changes to employee benefit plans arising from legislative amendments are treated as plan amendments, requiring immediate recognition of past service cost in the Standalone financial statements. The Company has assessed and disclosed the incremental impact of these changes on the basis of best information available, consistent with the guidance provided by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

The implementation of New Labour Codes has resulted in an incremental impact of ₹ 628 million on the provision for gratuity and compensated absences in the Standalone financial statements of continuing operations, which is due to the changes in the wage definition and employee policies. Considering the materiality and regulatory-driven, non-recurring nature of this impact, the Company has presented such incremental impact under "Exceptional Item" in the Standalone financial statements for the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026.

(i) Interest rate risk : The defined benefit obligation calculated uses a discount rate based on government bonds. If bond yields fall, the defined benefit obligation will tend to increase.

(ii) Salary Inflation risk : Higher than expected increases in salary will increase the defined benefit obligation.

(iii) Demographic risk : This is the risk of variability of results due to unsystematic nature of decrements that include mortality, withdrawal, disability and retirement. The effect of these decrements on the defined benefit obligation is not straight forward and depends upon the combination of salary increase, discount rate and vesting criteria. It is important not to overstate withdrawals because in the financial analysis the retirement benefit of a short career employee typically costs less per year as compared to a long service employee.

(iv) Medical Inflation risk : Higher than expected increase in premium can lead to increase in defined benefit obligation. Although, this risk is mitigated by capping the benefit paid by the insurance company (limiting the premium amount for the Company).

(v) EPFO return risk : Higher the EPFO declared return, the expected shortfall increases if actual fund return continues to be on the lower side which increase the defined benefit obligation.

Commodity price risk

As at 31 March 2026:

In November 2024, the Company transitioned the execution of commodity forward contracts from Multi Commodity Exchange (MCX) to London Metal Exchange (LME) and London Bullion Market Association (LBMA), without any change in the underlying risk management objective. The Company's exposure to price risk of copper, aluminum and silver ('the Commodities') arise from the future purchases of these commodities. The prices of the commodities are linked to LME benchmark prices for copper and aluminum and LBMA for silver. Accordingly, the Commodities are subject to price volatility on LME and LBMA.

The Company takes Buy position on LME for copper and aluminum and LBMA for silver by entering into Commodity Forward Contracts to hedge the price risk related to the future forecasted purchase of the Commodities. The Company enters into non-deliverable Sell contracts to square-off the open Buy Positions due to any changes in the timing of the future forecasted purchases of copper and aluminum.

The Company hedges its commodity exposure in the overseas markets through forward contracts on LME and LBMA which are benchmarked against prices published by the respective exchanges, with Siemens AG (the Ultimate Holding Company) acting as the counterparty. All commodity forward contracts are denominated in USD. Forecasted purchase of the Commodities results in exposure to commodity price risk due to the volatility of commodity prices on LME and LBMA, thereby affecting the profitability and financial position of the Company. The risk management strategy is to use the Buy future contracts on LME and LBMA, to hedge at least 75% of the forecasted purchases for the next three months on a rolling basis. These contracts are not designated in a hedging relationship, and subsequent changes in fair value are recognized in the Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss. The Company presents gross positions for the above-mentioned contracts as on the reporting date, as the Company does not meet criteria of offsetting.

As at 30 September 2024:

The Company took Buy position on MCX by entering into Commodity Future Contracts to hedge the price risk related to the future forecasted purchase of the Commodities and entered into Sell contracts on MCX to hedge the price risk on account of timing difference in invoicing and procurement in contracts related to future forecasted purchases.

As at 30 September 2024, the Company presented a net position for the Commodity Future Contracts on the reporting date, as the Company had a legally enforceable right and intends to offset the Buy and Sell contracts.

B Credit risk

Credit risk is defined as a potential loss in financial instruments if the counter party is failing to discharge its obligations in full and on time. The Company is exposed to credit risk from its operating and investing activities like trade receivables, cash and cash equivalents, contract assets, deposits with banks, inter-corporate deposits with related parties, foreign exchange and derivative transactions and other financial instruments. There are no loans or other financial assets at 31 March 2026 and 30 September 2024, which have significant increase in credit risk or which are are credit impaired, other than those disclosed in these Standalone financial statements.

Receivables

The major exposure to credit risk at the reporting date is primarily from receivables comprising of trade receivables and contract assets. Credit risk on receivables and contract assets is limited due to the Company's large and diverse customer base which includes public sector enterprises, state owned companies, private corporate and related parties.The effective monitoring and controlling of credit risk through credit evaluations and ratings is a core competency of the Company's risk management system. There is no single customer who contributes more than 10% of the total revenue or trade receivable balance for the eighteen months period ended and as at 31 March 2026.

In respect of trade receivables and contract assets, the Company follows a simplified approach wherein an amount equal to lifetime expected credit loss (ECL) is measured and recognised as impairment allowance. The Company has computed ECL allowance based on a provision matrix. The provision matrix is prepared based on historically observed default rates over the expected life of trade receivables and is adjusted for forward-looking estimates. At every reporting date, the historical observed default rates are updated and changes in the forward-looking estimates are analysed.

The Company follows provisioning norms based on the roll rate method to estimate the impairment allowance under ECL on unsecured trade receivables and contract assets. As the risk profiles of the receivables is diverse, the Company further categorises receivables due from various segments into Government and Private sector for deriving the rates for provision matrix. Further, the Company has assessed credit risk on an individual basis in respect of certain customers in case of event driven situation such as litigations, disputes, change in customer's credit risk history, specific provision are made after evaluating the relevant facts and expected recovery and provides customer specifc allowance.

The provision matrix at the end of the reporting period is as follows:

Ageing buckets	As at 31 March 2026	Range of ECL (%)	As at 30 September 2024	Range of ECL (%)
0 - 6 months	114	0.02% to 0.42%	329	0.09% to 0.75%

As per the qualitative and quantitative hedge effectiveness assessment performed by the Company atleast on quarterly basis, the cash flow hedges are effective considering that the hedge ratio of the hedging instrument and the hedged item is the same. Accordingly, the gains/(losses) on hedge instrument (forex forward contracts) fully offsets the gains/(losses) on hedged item (highly probable future forecasted revenue and purchase transactions). These contracts typically have a maturity period of 1-36 months. The effective portion of the gains/(losses) are recycled from the cash flow hedge reserve to revenue from operations and cost of materials consumed in the same period when the hedged item is recognised in Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss.

Disclosure of effects on hedge accounting on financial performance:

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT
To the Members of Siemens Limited

Report on the Audit of the Consolidated financial statements

Opinion

1. We have audited the accompanying Consolidated financial statements of Siemens Limited (hereinafter referred to as the "Holding Company") and its subsidiaries (the Holding Company and its subsidiaries together referred to as "the Group") (Refer Note 1 to the Consolidated financial statements), which comprise the Consolidated Balance Sheet as at 31 March 2026, and the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss (including Other Comprehensive Income), the Consolidated Statement of Changes in Equity and the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows for the eighteen months period then ended, and notes to the Consolidated financial statements, including material accounting policy information and other explanatory information (hereinafter referred to as "the Consolidated financial statements").

2. In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid Consolidated financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the Consolidated state of affairs of the Group as at 31 March 2026, and consolidated total comprehensive income (comprising of profit and other comprehensive loss), consolidated changes in equity and its consolidated cash flows for the eighteen months period then ended.

Basis for Opinion

3. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) specified under Section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the "Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the Consolidated financial statements" section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the Consolidated financial statements in India in terms of the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the relevant provisions of the Act, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of Matter

4. We draw your attention to Note 58.1 to the Consolidated financial statements in respect of the Scheme of Arrangement (the "Scheme") between the Holding Company, Siemens Energy India Limited and their respective shareholders and creditors for demerger of the Energy business of the Holding Company (disclosed as discontinued operations in the Consolidated financial statements), which has been approved by the National Company Law Tribunal (the "NCLT") vide its order dated 25 March 2025. The Holding Company has given effect to the Scheme from the 'appointed date' of 1 March 2025, as approved by the NCLT, while the applicable accounting standards require accounting for the Scheme in the books of the Holding Company to be carried out as a distribution of non-cash assets to owners when the distribution is appropriately authorised and is no longer at the discretion of the Holding Company, which is the date of the final Order passed by the NCLT sanctioning the Scheme as aforesaid (i.e., the 'effective date' per the Scheme). Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Key audit matters

5. Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the Consolidated financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the Consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matter	How our audit addressed the key audit matter
Revenue recognition in respect of construction contracts (Refer Notes 35 and 45 to the Consolidated financial statements) A significant portion of the Holding Company's business is from construction contracts with its customers, which generally extend over a long period of time. The contract prices are generally fixed at contract inception, and also include elements of variable consideration such as liquidated damages, claims and multiple performance obligations.	Our procedures performed included the following: (a) Obtained an understanding of the business process, evaluated the design and tested the operating effectiveness of key controls, specific to such customer contracts, including determination of contract price, performance obligations, estimation of contract costs, revenue recognition, management reviews and approvals thereof; (b) Assessed the appropriateness of the revenue recognition accounting policies in line with Ind AS 115 'Revenue from Contracts with Customers';

Key audit matter	How our audit addressed the key audit matter
In respect of these contracts, the Holding Company recognises revenue over a period of time in accordance with its accounting policy. Recognition of contract revenue involves determination of percentage completion of the project. The contract revenue is measured based on the proportion of contract costs incurred for work performed till date, relative to the estimated total contract costs. This method requires the Holding Company to perform an initial assessment of total estimated costs, compare with actual costs incurred and reassess the total estimated costs for completion of contract at each reporting period to determine the appropriate percentage of completion. The estimation involves exercise of significant judgement by the management in making forecasts of future costs to complete the contract considering future activities to be carried out in the contract, which includes determination and assessment of probability related to contract risk contingencies, cost savings or additional costs, warranty costs, adjustments to contract revenue on account of penalties for breach of contract, liquidation damages and consequential provision for foreseeable losses on onerous performance obligations, if any after considering specific circumstances of each contract. Further, based on contractual tenability of claims, price or scope variations and progress of discussions and negotiations with the customers, the Holding Company's management periodically assesses the recoverability of claims and price or scope variations recognised as part of contract, if any, based on certain assumptions. This has been considered as a key audit matter in view of the following: - Contracts with customers are customised and complex in nature; and - Revenue recognition is complex and involves significant management judgements and estimates. These relate to identifying performance obligations, transaction price, estimating the balance cost-to-complete the project and determining the percentage of completion for the purpose of recognizing revenue for the relevant performance obligations.	(c) For selected sample of contracts, performed the following: - Obtained and examined project related documents such as contracts, customer communications and price or scope variation orders; - Tested the contract revenue, determination of performance obligations, including variable consideration with underlying documents (as explained above) and evaluated management's assessment by reviewing the contractual terms as considered necessary; - Assessed the reasonableness of management's basis for determining the total costs, including changes made during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026 by reference to supporting documents and estimates made in relation to cost-to-complete the projects; - Performed a retrospective analysis of costs incurred with planned costs and margins in respect of completed contracts; - Performed procedures with respect to management's development of the budgeted project costs, changes between planned and actual costs, the estimated costs to complete and management's assessment of probabilities related to contract risks; - Tested the mathematical calculation of percentage of completion based on the total estimated costs and the total actual costs incurred and the revenue recognised based on the percentage of completion; - Tested contract asset and contract liability balances based on the status of specific contracts, considering the billing done, revenue recognised and advances received from customer, if any, through the reporting date; - Tested the actual costs incurred and billing done during the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026 with supporting documents; (d) Evaluated the adequacy of the disclosures made in the Consolidated financial statements.

The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group are responsible for maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Group, and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, which have been used for the purpose of preparation of the Consolidated financial statements by the Board of Directors of the Holding Company, as aforesaid.

8. In preparing the Consolidated financial statements, the respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group are responsible for assessing the ability of the respective companies to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the respective Board of Directors either intends to liquidate the respective companies or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

9. The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group are responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of the respective companies.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the Consolidated financial statements

10. Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these Consolidated financial statements.

11. As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

    - Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Holding Company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the Group to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the Consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the Consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the Consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the Consolidated financial statements.

12. We communicate with those charged with governance of the Holding Company and such other entities included in the Consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

13. We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

14. From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the Consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Report on other legal and regulatory requirements

15. INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT (Continued)
To the Members of Siemens Limited
Annexure A to the Independent Auditor's Report

Referred to in paragraph 16(g) of the Independent Auditor's Report of even date to the members of Siemens Limited on the Consolidated financial statements as of and for the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026

Report on the Internal Financial Controls with reference to Consolidated financial statements under clause (i) of sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Act

1. In conjunction with our audit of the Consolidated financial statements of Siemens Limited (hereinafter referred to as "the Holding Company") as of and for the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026, we have audited the internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated financial statements of the Holding Company and its subsidiaries, which are companies incorporated in India, as of that date.

Management's responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

2. The respective Board of Directors of the Holding Company and its subsidiaries, to whom reporting under clause (i) of sub section 3 of Section 143 of the Act in respect of the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements is applicable, which are companies incorporated in India, are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting ("the Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the respective company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditor's responsibility

3. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Holding Company's internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI and the Standards on Auditing specified under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of internal financial controls and both issued by the ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated financial statements was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

4. Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system with reference to Consolidated financial statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated financial statements included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated financial statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

5. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Holding Company's internal financial controls system with reference to Consolidated financial statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls with reference to financial statements

6. A company's internal financial control with reference to financial statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control with reference to financial statements includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with reference to financial statements

7. Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control with reference to financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

8. In our opinion, the Holding Company and its subsidiaries, which are companies incorporated in India, have, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system with reference to Consolidated financial statements and such internal financial controls with reference to Consolidated financial statements were operating effectively as at 31 March 2026, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Holding Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI.

1. Material accounting policies

1.1 Basis of preparation of Consolidated financial statements

The Consolidated financial statements of the Group (hereinafter referred to as 'financial statements' in material accounting policies) for the eighteen months ended 31 March 2026 (refer note 62 for change of Financial Year) have been prepared in accordance with Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) notified pursuant to Section 133 of the Companies Act 2013 (the 'Act') read with Rule 3 of the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 and other relevant provisions of the Act.

The Consolidated financial statements have been prepared and presented under the historical cost convention, except for derivative instruments, defined benefit plans, employee share based payments and certain other financial assets and liabilities which have been measured at fair value (refer accounting policy regarding financial instruments).

The Consolidated financial statements are presented in ₹ (Indian Rupees), which is the functional currency and all values are rounded to the nearest million (₹ 1,000,000), except when otherwise indicated.

Principles of consolidation

The Consolidated financial statements comprise the financial statements of the Holding Company and its subsidiaries. Shareholding percentage of the subsidiaries are as under:

Entity	Relationship	Country of incorporation	% Shareholding 31 March 2026	% Shareholding 30 September 2024
Siemens Rail Automation Private Limited	Subsidiary	India	100%	100%
Siemens Energy India Limited	Subsidiary	India	100% - upto 1 March 2025 (refer note 58.1)	100%
C&S Electric Limited	Subsidiary	India	99.22%	99.22%

The Holding Company has an investment in associate 'Sunsole Renewables Private Limited' which is accounted as fair value through profit and loss and accordingly, not consolidated.

Subsidiary

Control is achieved when the Group is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee and has the ability to affect those returns through its power over the investee.

Subsidiary is consolidated from the date on which effective control is transferred to the Company. They are deconsolidated from the date that control ceases. Non – controlling interest's share of net profit is adjusted against the income to arrive at the net income attributable to owners of the Holding Company. Non – controlling interest's share of net assets is presented separately in the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Consolidated financial statements are prepared using uniform accounting policies for transactions and other events in similar circumstance.

The Consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the following basis:

Consolidation procedure:

(a) Items of assets, liabilities, equity, income, expenses and cash flows of the Holding Company are combined with those of its subsidiaries on a line by line basis.

(b) Intra-group assets and liabilities, equity, income, expenses and cash flows relating to transactions between entities of the Group are eliminated in full (profits or losses resulting from intra Group transactions that are recognised in assets, such as inventory and fixed assets, are eliminated in full). Intra Group losses may indicate an impairment that requires recognition in the Consolidated financial statements. Ind AS 12 Income Taxes applies to temporary differences that arise from the elimination of profits and losses resulting from intracompany transactions.

A change in the ownership interest of a subsidiary, without a loss of control, is accounted for as an equity transaction. If the Group loses control over a subsidiary, it:

- Derecognises the assets (including goodwill) and liabilities of the subsidiary
- Recognises the fair value of the consideration received
- Recognises the fair value of any investment retained
- Recognises any surplus or deficit in profit or loss
- Reclassifies the parent's share of components previously recognised in other comprehensive income (OCI) to profit or loss or retained earnings, as appropriate, as would be required if the Group had directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities

1.2 Current versus non-current classification

All assets and liabilities have been classified as current or non-current as per the Group's operating cycle. Based on the nature of business and the time between acquisition of assets for processing and their realisation in cash and cash equivalents, the Group has ascertained its operating cycle as 12 months for the purpose of current or non-current classification of assets and liabilities. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

1.3 Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost of acquisition less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. The cost includes taxes, duties, freight and other incidental expenses related to the acquisition and installation of the respective assets. Subsequent expenditure related to an item of property, plant and equipment is added to its book value only if it increases the future economic benefits from the existing assets beyond its previously assessed standard of performance.

Depreciation on property, plant and equipment is provided on a straight-line basis over the useful lives of assets estimated by the management, taking into account the nature of the asset on technical evaluation of the useful life, which may not necessarily be in alignment with the indicative useful lives prescribed by Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013. The following useful lives are considered:

Assets	Estimated useful lives
Freehold Land	NA
Buildings
- Factory buildings	30 years
- Other buildings	50 years
- Roads	10 years
- Leasehold improvements	Over the lease term or useful life, whichever is shorter
Plant and equipment	3 – 20 years
Furniture and fixtures	5-10 years
Office equipment
- Computers	3 years
- Hardware, mainframes and servers	5 years
- Other office equipment	3 - 5 years
Vehicles	4-10 years

If significant parts of property, plant and equipment have different useful lives, then they are accounted as separate items (major components) of property, plant and equipment.

Items of property, plant and equipment that have been retired from active use and are held for disposal are stated at the lower of their carrying value and estimated net realizable value and are disclosed separately in the financial statements. Any gain or loss on disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Capital work-in-progress includes the cost of property, plant and equipment that are not ready for intended use at the balance sheet date.

Advances paid towards the acquisition of property, plant and equipment outstanding at each balance sheet date is classified as capital advances under "Other non-current assets".

1.4 Intangible assets and Goodwill

Intangible assets comprise of software, technical know-how, trademark, customer contracts and customer relationships. Intangible assets are stated at cost of acquisition less accumulated amortisation and impairment losses, if any. These intangible assets are amortised on straight-line basis based on the following useful lives, which in management's estimate represents the period during which economic benefits will be derived from their use:

Assets	Estimated useful lives
Software	3 - 5 years
Technical know-how	3 - 10 years
Customer Contracts	10 years
Customer Relationships	12 years
Trademark	10 years

1.4 Intangible assets and Goodwill (Continued)

Goodwill and intangible assets that have an indefinite useful life are not subject to amortisation and are tested annually for impairment, or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that they might be impaired.

Intangible assets acquired in a business combination

Identified intangible assets acquired in a business combination and recognised separately from goodwill are initially recognised at their fair values at the acquisition date.

Subsequent to initial recognition, intangible assets acquired in a business combination are reported at cost less accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses, on the same basis as intangible assets acquired separately.

Intangible assets under development

Expenditure on intangible assets eligible for capitalisation are carried as Intangible assets under development where such assets are not yet ready for their intended use.

Research and Development

Research and development expenditure that do not meet the criteria for capitalization are recognized as an expense as incurred. Development costs previously recognized as an expense are not recognized as an asset in a subsequent period.

1.5 Investment properties

Investments in land or buildings (including property under construction) which are held to earn rentals and/or for capital appreciation are classified as investment properties. Investment properties are initially measured at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are stated at cost, net of accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any.

The cost comprises purchase price and directly attributable cost of bringing the investment property to its working condition capable for the intended use.

Depreciation on investment property is provided on a straight-line basis over the useful lives of assets estimated by the management. Such classes of investment properties and their estimated useful lives are as under:

Assets	Estimated useful lives
Land - Freehold land	NA
Buildings	30 years

Investment properties are derecognised either when they have been disposed of or when they are permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefit is expected from their disposal. On disposal of an investment property, the difference between its carrying amount and net disposal proceeds is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.6 Revenue recognition

Revenue at point in time

Revenue from sale of products is recognised when control of the goods is transferred to the customer, which is usually on dispatch or delivery of goods to the customer and there are no unfulfilled obligations that could affect the customer's acceptance of the goods, at an amount (transaction price) that reflects the consideration to which the Group expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods.

Revenue from services includes sale of spares in relation to the customer service business of the Group. Revenue from spares, is recognized on satisfaction of performance obligation to the customer at a point in time and is measured based on the consideration specified in a contract with the customer.

Revenue over time

Revenue from contracts with customers (Product, project and services) is recognized over the period of time if any of the below mentioned criteria is met:

(i) The Customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefits as the Group performs. The same includes plant operations and maintenance, customer services, etc.

(ii) The Group's performance creates or enhances an asset that the customer controls as the asset is created or enhanced.

(iii) The Group's performance does not create an asset with an alternative use to the Group and the Group has an enforceable right to payment for performance completed to date.

When the outcome of a project contract can be estimated reliably and the contracts fulfill over the period of time, revenue from projects is recognized using input method based on the percentage of costs incurred to date compared to the total estimated contract costs. The Group uses input method because it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer which occurs as it incurs costs on contracts. Further, revenue from services such as annual maintenance contracts, integrated plant operations and upgradation services are recognized over time using straight line or input method, which best depicts the transfer of control to the customer, as applicable.

Transaction price for projects is the amount which the entity expects to receive from customer in exchange for transferring promised goods or services to a customer, excluding amounts collected on behalf of third parties. The Group includes certain variable considerations as part of transaction price such as price escalations, performance related incentives and penalties including liquidated damages. The amount of variable consideration is estimated considering the expected value method or most likely amount method as appropriate in a given circumstance to the extent it is highly probable that the significant reversal of revenue will not occur.

An expected loss on the project contract is recognised as an expense immediately. Contract revenue earned in excess of billing has been reflected as "Contract assets" and billing in excess of contract revenue has been reflected under "Contract liabilities" in the Consolidated Balance Sheet. Contract assets and liabilities are netted off at contract level. The amount of retention money held by the customers pending completion of performance is disclosed as part of contract asset and is reclassified as trade receivables when it has unconditional right to consideration. A right to consideration is unconditional if only the passage of time is required before payment of that consideration is due.

Multiple performance obligations

If a contract contains more than one distinct product or service, the transaction price is allocated to each performance obligation based on relative stand-alone selling prices. If stand-alone selling prices are not observable, the Group reasonably estimates those. Revenue is recognized for each performance obligation either at a point in time or over time, as appropriate. In the Group's case, typically such multiple performance obligations include supply of products, projects and services.

Refund Liabilities

Refund liabilities are the obligation to refund part or all of the consideration received (or receivable) from the customer. The liability is measured at the amount the Group ultimately expects it will have to return to the customer. The Group updates its estimate of refund liabilities (and the corresponding change in the transaction price) at the end of each reporting period.

Refund liabilities include:

(a) Trade and Quantity discounts which are based on the terms and conditions agreed with the customer.

(b) Liquidated damages which are provided based on contractual terms when the delivery / commissioning dates of an individual project have exceeded or are likely to exceed the delivery/ commissioning dates as per the respective contracts.

Revenue is stated exclusive of goods and services tax and net of consideration payable to customers, including refund liabilities.

Payment terms in revenue contract is dependent on the nature of contract and terms and conditions agreed with the customers and may vary significantly. Contracts may have financing component which are appropriately recognised in the financial statements.

For the significant judgements used in determining revenue, refer Judgements in Note 2(a).

Commission Income

Commission income is recognised as and when the terms of the contract are fulfilled along with the proof of shipment being received from the supplier.

Export Incentives

Export incentives are recognized, when the right to receive the credit is established on export of goods in accordance with the underlying scheme and there is no significant uncertainty regarding the realisability of the incentive.

1.7 Interest income

Interest income on financial assets at amortised cost is recognised on time proportion basis using the effective interest rate method, based on the underlying interest rates.

1.8 Inventories

Inventories comprise all costs of purchase, conversion and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

Raw materials, work-in-progress, finished goods and traded goods are carried at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost is determined on the basis of the weighted average method.

The net realisable value of work-in-progress and finished goods is determined with reference to the estimated selling price less estimated cost of completion and estimated costs necessary to make the sale. Raw materials held for the production of finished goods are not written down below cost except in case where material prices have declined and it is estimated that the cost of the finished product will exceed its net realisable value. Provisions are made for slow moving and obsolete inventories based on estimates made by the Group.

1.9 Leases

The Group's lease asset classes primarily consist of leases for land and buildings, vehicles and plant and equipment. Vehicles taken on lease have been provided to the employees of the Group. The Group assesses whether a contract is (or contains) a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is (or contains), a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Group assesses whether:

(i) the contract involves the use of an identified asset;

(ii) the Group has substantially all the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease;

(iii) the Group has the right to direct the use of the asset.

Where the Group is the lessee:

At the date of commencement of the lease, the Group recognises a Right-of-Use asset ("ROU") and a corresponding Lease Liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of twelve months or less (short term leases) and leases of low value assets.

For these short term and leases of low value assets, the Group recognises the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

The ROU assets are initially recognised at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or prior to the commencement date of the lease plus any initial direct costs less any lease incentives. They are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. Contracts may contain both lease and non-lease components. The Group allocates the consideration in the contract to the lease and non-lease components based on their stand-alone prices. However, for leases of real estate for which the Group is a lessee, it has elected not to separate lease and non-lease components and instead accounts for these as a single lease component.

ROU assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term and useful life of the underlying asset.

The lease liability is initially measured at the present value of the future lease payments. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the incremental borrowing rates. The lease liability is subsequently remeasured by increasing the carrying amount to reflect interest on the lease liability, reducing the carrying amount to reflect the lease payments made.

A lease liability is remeasured upon the occurrence of certain events such as re-assessment of the lease term or a change in an index rate used to determine lease payments. The remeasurement normally also adjusts the ROU assets and impact of gain/loss on modification is given in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Lease liability and ROU asset have been separately presented in the Consolidated Balance Sheet and Lease payments have been classified as financing cash flows.

Where the Group is the lessor

Assets subject to operating leases are included in property, plant and equipment and investment properties. Lease income is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Costs, including depreciation are recognised as an expense in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. Initial direct costs such as legal costs, brokerage costs, etc. are recognised immediately in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Sublease

When the group is an intermediate lessor, it accounts for its interests in the head lease and the sublease separately. It assesses the lease classification of a sublease with reference to the right-of-use asset arising from the head lease. To classify sublease, the group makes an overall assessment of whether the lease transfers substantially all of the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of the underlying asset. If substantially all of the risks and rewards incidental to ownership are transferred, then sublease is classified as a finance lease; or otherwise, it is classified as an operating lease.

If sublease is operating lease, then rental income is accounted for on a straight-line basis over the lease terms. If sublease is finance lease, then Group derecognises the right of use asset on the head lease and recognises a net investment in the sublease.

1.10 Employee benefits

(a) Short-term employee benefits:

All employee benefits payable wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short-term employee benefits. Benefits such as salaries, wages and short-term compensated absences, etc. and the expected cost of ex-gratia and variable compensation are recognised in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

(b) Post-employment and other long-term benefits:

(i) Defined contribution plans: The Group's approved superannuation scheme, employee state insurance scheme and provident fund of subsidiaries are defined contribution plans. The Group's contribution payable under the schemes is recognised as expense in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss during the period in which the employee renders the related service.

(b) Post-employment and other long-term benefits: (Continued)

(ii) Defined benefit plans and other long-term benefits: The Group's gratuity, pension and medical benefit schemes are defined benefit plans. Compensated absences, retention bonus, silver jubilee and star awards are other long-term benefits. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plans and other long- term benefits are determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method, which recognizes each period of service as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation. In case of funded plans, the fair value of the plan assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans to recognize the obligation on a net basis.

Provident fund of the Holding Company has been considered as a defined benefit plan since any additional obligations on account of investment risk and interest rate risk are required to be met by the Holding Company.

In case of defined benefit plans, comprising gratuity, pension, post-retirement medical benefits and provident fund, remeasurement comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability or asset) and any change in the effect of asset ceiling (wherever applicable) is recognized in other comprehensive income (OCI) and is reflected in retained earnings and is not eligible to be reclassified to profit or loss. In case of other long term benefits, all remeasurements including actuarial gain or loss are charged to the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

The Group recognizes following items in the net defined benefit obligation as an expense in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss:

- Service cost including current service cost, past service cost – plan amendments and gains and losses on curtailments and settlements; and
- Net interest expense or income.

For the purpose of presentation, the allocation between current and non-current provisions has been made as determined by an actuary, as applicable.

Provision for compensated absences are presented as current liabilities, as the Group does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for atleast 12 months after the reporting period, regardless of when the actual settlement is expected to occur.

1.11 Share based payment

Share-based payment consists of share awards of the Ultimate Holding Group to the employees of the Group, which subsequently makes a recharge to the Group. These awards are predominantly designed as equity-settled transactions as the ultimate obligation to settle the transaction is on the Ultimate Holding Group. The cost of stock awards granted to the employees of the Group are measured at the fair value of the stock awards granted of the Ultimate Holding Group. For each stock award, the measurement of fair value is performed on the grant date.

The cost is recognised in the statement of profit or loss, together with a corresponding increase in stock awards reserve in equity, over the period in which the service conditions are fulfilled. At the end of each reporting period upto the date of settlement, the Group remeasures the fair value of the liability based on the share price of the Ultimate Holding Group with a corresponding adjustment to equity.

1.12 Financial instruments

Financial assets and/or financial liabilities are recognised when the Group becomes party to a contract embodying the related financial instruments.

Initial recognition and measurement

On initial recognition, financial assets are recognised at fair value except trade receivables which are recognized at transaction price which do not contain a significant financing component. In case of financial assets which are recognised at fair value through profit and loss (FVTPL), its transaction costs are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. In other cases, the transaction costs are added to the acquisition value of the financial asset.

Subsequent measurement

For purposes of subsequent measurement, financial assets are classified in the below categories:

(a) Financial assets at amortised cost;

(b) Financial assets, including derivatives at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL); and

(c) Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI).

For trade and other receivables maturing within one year from the Balance Sheet date, the carrying amounts approximate fair value, due to the short maturity of these instruments.

(a) Financial assets at amortised cost

Financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost if these financial assets are held within a business where the objective is to hold these assets in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

After initial measurement, such financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortisation is included in finance income in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. The losses arising from impairment are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. This category generally applies to trade and other receivables, loans and other financial assets.

(b) Financial Assets including derivatives at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)

Financial assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss unless it is measured at amortised cost or at fair value through other comprehensive income on initial recognition. The transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are immediately recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

(c) Financial Assets at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI)

A financial asset is subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if it is held within a business where the objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and intrest on the principal amount outstanding.

Derecognition

A financial asset is primarily derecognised when:

(a) the right to receive cash flows from the asset has expired, or

(b) the Group has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a pass-through arrangement; and a) the Group has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or

b) the Group has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

On derecognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the differences between the carrying amounts measured at the date of derecognition and the consideration received is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Impairment of financial assets

The Group applies the expected credit loss (ECL) model for recognition and measurement of impairment losses on the following financial assets and credit risk exposures:

(a) Financial assets that are debt instruments, and are measured at amortised cost e.g., loans, deposits, and bank balance.

(b) Financial assets that are debt instruments and are measured as at FVTOCI.

(c) Lease receivables under Ind AS 116.

(d) Trade receivables, contract assets or any contractual right to receive cash or another financial asset that result from transactions that are within the scope of Ind AS 115.

The Group follows the simplified approach for recognition of impairment loss allowance on trade receivables and contract assets. The application of the simplified approach does not require the Group to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition. As a practical expedient, the Group uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss allowance on trade receivables and contract assets.

For recognition of impairment loss on other financial assets and risk exposure, the Group determines whether there has been a significant increase in the credit risk since initial recognition. If credit risk has not increased significantly, twelve-month ECL is used to provide for impairment loss. However, if credit risk has increased significantly, lifetime ECL is used. If in a subsequent period, credit quality of the instrument improves such that there is no longer a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition, then the Group reverts to recognising impairment loss allowance based on twelve-month ECL.

Lifetime ECL are the expected credit losses resulting from all possible default events over the expected life of a financial instrument. The twelve-month ECL is a portion of the lifetime ECL which results from default events that are possible within twelve months after the reporting date.

ECL is the difference between net of all contractual cash flows that are due to the Group in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the Group expects to receive (i.e., all cash shortfalls), discounted at the original EIR.

Impairment of non-financial assets

The Group assesses at each balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset or a group of assets (cash generating unit) may be impaired. If any such indication exists, the Group estimates the recoverable amount of the asset or cash generating unit.

Financial liabilities

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL), payables, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate.

On initial recognition, financial liabilities are recognised at fair value. In case of financial liabilities which are recognised at fair value through profit and loss (FVTPL), its transaction costs are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. In other cases, the transaction costs are added to the acquisition or issue of the financial liabilities.

The Group's financial liabilities include trade and other payables and derivative financial instruments.

Subsequent measurement

Financial liabilities, including derivatives and embedded derivatives, which are designated for measurement at FVTPL are subsequently measured at fair value. All other financial liabilities such as deposits are measured at amortised cost using EIR method.

For trade and other payables maturing within one year from the Balance Sheet date, the carrying amounts approximate fair value, due to the short maturity of these instruments.

Derecognition

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expired. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as the derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the Consolidated Balance Sheet if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

1.13 Foreign currency transactions

The Group is exposed to currency fluctuations on foreign currency transactions. Transactions denominated in foreign currency are recorded at the exchange rate prevailing on the date of transactions.

Exchange differences arising on foreign exchange transactions settled during the year are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss for the year.

Translation

Monetary assets and liabilities in foreign currency, which are outstanding as at the year-end, are translated at the year-end closing exchange rate and the resultant exchange differences are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. Non-monetary items are stated in the Consolidated Balance Sheet using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction / date when fair value was determined.

Derivative instruments and hedge accounting

The Group's exposure to foreign currency fluctuations relates to foreign currency assets, liabilities and forecasted cash flows. The Group limits the effects of foreign exchange rate fluctuations by following established risk management policies including the use of derivatives like forward contracts. The Group enters forward exchange contracts, where the counterparty is a bank. The hedging strategy is used for mitigating the currency fluctuation risk and the Group does not use the forward exchange contracts for trading or speculative purpose. The Group uses forward contracts to mitigate its risks associated with foreign currency fluctuations having underlying transaction and relating to firm commitments or highly probable foreign currency forecasted purchase and sale transactions.

The forward exchange contracts are re-measured at fair value at each reporting date with the resultant gains/ losses thereon being recorded in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss, except that are designated as hedges.

Commodity risk is mitigated by entering into future contracts to hedge against fluctuation in commodity prices.

The Group designates some of the foreign currency forward contracts in a cash flow hedging relationship by applying the hedge accounting principles.

These forward contracts are stated at fair value at each reporting date. Changes in the effective portion of fair value of these forward contracts that are designated as hedges of future cash flows are recognised directly in OCI and reflected in cash flow hedge reserve, net of applicable deferred income taxes and the ineffective portion is recognised immediately in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Amounts accumulated in cash flow hedge reserve are reclassified to Profit and Loss in the periods during which the forecasted transaction materialises.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. For forecasted transactions, any cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument recognised in cash flow hedge reserve is retained there until the forecasted transaction occurs.

If the forecasted transaction is no longer expected to occur, the net cumulative gain or loss recognised in cash flow hedge reserve is immediately transferred to the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss for the period.

1.14 Fair value measurement

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

- Level 1 - Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable.
- Level 3 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Group determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Group has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

In determining the fair value of its financial instruments, the Group uses a variety of methods and assumptions that are based on market conditions and risks existing at each reporting date. The methods used to determine fair value includes discounted cash flow analysis, available quoted market prices and dealer quotes. All methods of assessing fair value result from general approximation of value and the same may differ from the actual realised value.

1.15 Taxation

Income-tax expense comprises current tax (i.e. amount of tax for the year determined in accordance with the income-tax law) and deferred tax charge or credit (reflecting the tax effect of temporary differences) computed in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961. Current tax and deferred tax are recognised in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss, except when they relate to items that are recognised in OCI or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

The current tax payable is based on taxable profit for the year. The Group's current tax is calculated using tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted, by the end of the reporting period. Advance taxes and provisions for current income taxes are presented in the Consolidated Balance Sheet after off-setting advance tax paid and income tax provision arising in the same tax jurisdiction for the same assessment year and where the relevant taxpaying units intend to settle the asset and liability on a net basis.

Deferred tax is provided using the balance sheet method on temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes at the reporting date.

The deferred tax charge or credit and the corresponding deferred tax liabilities or assets are recognised using the tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets are generally recognised for all deductible temporary differences to the extent it is probable that taxable profits will be available against those deductible temporary differences and can be realised. Deferred tax assets are reviewed as at each balance sheet date and written down to the extent it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax liabilities are not recognized for temporary differences between the carrying amount and tax base of investments in subsidiaries where the Group is able to control the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences and it is not probable that the differences will reverse in foreseeable future and taxable profit will not be available against which the temporary difference can be utilized.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when they relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority and the relevant entity intends to settle its current tax assets and liabilities on a net basis.

Uncertain tax positions are reflected in the overall measurement of the Group's tax expense and are based on the most likely amount or the expected value arrived by the Group, which provides a better prediction of the resolution of uncertainty. Uncertain tax positions are monitored and updated as and when new information becomes available, typically upon examination or action by the taxing authorities or through statute expiration and judicial precedent.

1.16 Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are computed by dividing the net profit attributable to equity shareholders for the year, by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the year are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

1.17 Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

Provisions are recognised when the Group has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of past events and it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. If the effect is material, provisions are recognised at present value by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pretax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money. When a contract becomes onerous, the present obligation under the contract is recognised as a provision. These are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect current best estimates.

Disclosures for contingent liability are made when there is a possible and present obligation that arises from past events which is not recognised since it is not probable that there will be an outflow of resources. When there is a possible and present obligation in respect of which the likelihood of outflow of resources is remote, no disclosure is made.

Loss contingencies arising from claims, litigation, assessment, fines, penalties, etc. are recorded when it is probable that a liability has been incurred and the amount can be reasonably estimated.

Provisions for warranty related cost are recognised when the product is sold or service is provided to the customer. Initial recognition is based on past experience.

Contingent assets are not recognised in the financial statements since this may result in the recognition of income that may never be realised. However, when the realisation of income is virtually certain, then the related assets is not a contingent asset and is recognised.

1.18 Cash and Cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash, cheques in hand, cash at bank and deposits with banks having original maturity of three months or less. Bank deposits with original maturity of up to three months are classified as 'Cash and cash equivalents' and with original maturity of more than three months are classified as 'Other bank balances'. Bank deposits with original maturity of more than three months and that are restricted for withdrawal and usage. are classified as 'Other bank balances'.

1.19 Non-current assets held for sale and discontinued operations

Non-current assets or disposal groups comprising of assets and liabilities are classified as 'held for sale' when all the following criteria are met:

(a) decision has been made to sell;

(b) the assets are available for immediate sale in its present condition;

(c) the assets are being actively marketed; and

(d) sale has been agreed or is expected to be concluded within 12 months of the Balance Sheet date.

Subsequently, such non-current assets and disposal groups classified as 'held for sale' are measured at the lower of its carrying value and fair value less costs to sell.

Non-current assets held for sale are not depreciated or amortised.

A discontinued operation is a component of the entity that has been disposed of or is classified as held for sale and represents a separate major line of business or geographical area of operations and is part of a single co-ordinated plan to dispose of such a line of business or area of operations. The results of discontinued operations are presented separately in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

1.20 Business Combinations and Goodwill

Business combinations are accounted using acquisition method. The cost of an acquisition is measured at the fair value of the assets transferred, equity instruments issued and liabilities assumed at their acquisition date i.e. the date on which control is acquired. Contingent consideration to be transferred is recognised at fair value and included as part of cost of acquisition. Transaction-related costs are expensed in the period in which the costs are incurred.

At the acquisition date, the identifiable assets acquired and liabilities and contingent liabilities assumed in a business combination are measured at their acquisition date fair values. However, certain assets and liabilities i.e. deferred tax assets or liabilities, assets or liabilities related to employee benefit arrangements, liabilities or equity instruments related to share-based payment arrangements, lease liabilities under Ind AS 116 and assets or disposal groups that are classified as held for sale, acquired or assumed in a business combination are measured as per the applicable Ind-AS.

The Group recognises any non-controlling interest at the non-controlling interest's proportionate share of the acquired entity's net identifiable assets.

The excess of the sum of the consideration transferred to acquire the entity over fair value of the net identifiable assets acquired is recognised as goodwill.

Where it is not possible to complete the determination of fair values by the end of the reporting period in which the combination occurs, a provisional assessment of fair values is made and any adjustments required to those provisional values, and the corresponding adjustments to goodwill, are finalised within 12 months of the acquisition date.

Measurement period adjustments are adjustments that arise from additional information during the 'measurement period' (which cannot exceed one year from the acquisition date) about facts and circumstances that existed at the acquisition date. The subsequent accounting for changes in the fair value of the contingent consideration that do not qualify as the measurement period adjustments depends on how the contingent consideration is classified. Contingent consideration that is classified as equity is not remeasured at subsequent reporting dates and its subsequent settlement is accounted for within equity. Contingent consideration that is classified as an asset or a liability is remeasured at fair value at subsequent reporting dates with the corresponding gain or loss being recognized in profit or loss.

Goodwill is measured at cost, being the excess of the aggregate of the consideration transferred, the amount recognised for non-controlling interests, over the net identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed.

After initial recognition, goodwill is tested for impairment annually on 31 March (previously 30 September) and measured at cost less any accumulated impairment losses if any.

1.21 Operating segments:

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker.

1.22 Dividend:

Provision is made for the amount of any dividend declared, being appropriately authorised and no longer at the discretion of the entity, on or before the end of the reporting period but not distributed at the end of the reporting period.

2. Critical estimates and judgments

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenue, expenses, assets and liabilities. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Any revision to accounting estimates is recognised prospectively.

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimating uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, are described below. The Group has based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when the financial statements were prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising that are beyond the control of the Group. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur.

(a) Project revenue and costs

The input method places considerable importance on accurate estimates to the extent of progress towards completion and may involve estimates on the scope of deliveries and services required for fulfilling the contractually defined obligations. These significant estimates include total contract costs, total contract revenues, contract risks, including technical, political and regulatory risks, and other judgments viz. variable considerations such as claims, liquidated damages, etc. The Group re-assesses these estimates on periodic basis and makes appropriate revisions accordingly.

(b) Inventories

Inventories are measured at lower of cost or net realisable value. The amount of the write-down is estimated based on expected inventory usefulness or marketability, considering the criteria like slow-moving, technical obsolescence, price level etc.

(c) Property, plant and equipment and intangible assets

The charge in respect of periodic depreciation is derived after determining an estimate of an asset's expected useful life. The useful lives of the Group's assets are determined by management at the time the asset is acquired and reviewed periodically, including at each financial year end. The lives are based on historical experience with similar assets as well as anticipation of future events, which may impact their life, such as changes in technology.

2. Critical estimates and judgments (Continued)

(d) Leases

The Group use estimates and judgements in identification of leases, lease term assessment considering termination and renewal option and the discounting rate used.

The Group evaluates if an arrangement qualifies to be a lease as per the requirements of Ind AS 116. Identification of a lease requires significant judgement. The Group uses significant judgement in assessing the lease term (including anticipated renewals) and the applicable discount rate. The Group determines the lease term as the non-cancellable period of a lease, together with both periods covered by an option to extend the lease if the Group is reasonably certain to exercise that option; and periods covered by an option to terminate the lease if the Group is reasonably certain not to exercise that option. In assessing whether the Group is reasonably certain to exercise an option to extend a lease, or not to exercise an option to terminate a lease, it considers all relevant facts and circumstances that create an economic incentive for the Group to exercise the option to extend the lease, or not to exercise the option to terminate the lease. The discount rate is generally based on the incremental borrowing rate specific to the lease being evaluated or for a portfolio of leases with similar characteristics.

(e) Employee benefits

The Group's obligation for employee benefits is determined based on actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions that may differ from actual developments in the future. These include the determination of the discount rate, future salary increases, attrition, mortality rates and medical inflation rate. Due to the complexities involved in the valuation and its long-term nature, these liabilities are highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted, if needed following actuarial and experience changes.

Refer note 49 for details of the key assumptions used in determining the accounting of these plans.

The parameter most sensitive to change is the discount rate. In determining the appropriate discount rate for plans operated in India, the Actuary considers the interest rates based on Government bond yield.

The mortality rate is based on publicly available mortality tables for India. Those mortality tables tend to change only at interval in response to demographic changes. Future salary increases are based on expected future inflation rates. Medical inflation rate is determined based on the analysis done of historical medical expenses, medical premium inflation, industry benchmarks and macroeconomic indicators on long-term.

(f) Impairment of financial assets

The Group assesses impairment on financial assets based on Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model. The provision matrix is based on its historically observed default rates over the expected life of the financial assets and is adjusted for forward looking estimates. At every reporting date, the historical observed default rates are updated and changes in forward looking estimates are analysed.

(g) Provisions and contingent liabilities

Significant estimates are involved in the determination of provisions related to onerous contracts, warranty costs, legal and regulatory proceedings (legal proceedings) including direct and indirect tax matters.

The Group recognises the estimated liability for warranty cost when the products are sold.

These estimates are established using historical information on the nature, frequency and average cost of warranty claims and management estimates regarding possible future incidence based on corrective actions or product failures. Management estimates the provision based on historical trends adjusted for any forward looking specific information supplemented by technical evaluation for products/projects and estimate of costs for repairs, replacement, material cost and servicing.

The Group records a provision for expected loss on contracts with customers, where revenue is recognised over time, is recognised when it is probable that the contract costs will exceed contract revenue. For all other contracts, loss order provisions are made when the unavoidable costs of meeting the obligation under the contract exceed the currently estimated economic benefits.

The provision for warranty and onerous contracts is based on the best estimate required to settle the present obligation at the end of reporting period.

Further in respect of the Energy segment, warranties relate to completed projects and products sold, and are determined on the basis of repair and replacement costs resulting from component defects or functional errors, which may cover both warranty and post warranty period. Additionally, non-recurring provisions are recorded due to various factors, such as portfolio changes and customer application that, in general, relate to situations in which the expected failure rates are above normal levels. The measurement of warranty provisions reflects whether the underlying contractual or underlying obligation results from a single obligation or a larger population of items. The amount provided are based on the management judgement and use of assumptions basis best available information, some of which may be for matter that are inherently uncertain and susceptible to change as more relevant data becomes available. Considering these obligations could be concluded over a longer period exceeding 1 year, these have been appropriately discounted to reflect the time value of money.

Legal proceedings including direct and indirect tax matters often involve complex legal issues and are subject to substantial uncertainties. Accordingly, considerable judgment is part of determining whether it is probable that there is a present obligation as a result of a past event at the end of the reporting period, whether it is probable that such a legal proceeding including direct and indirect tax matters will result in an outflow of resources and whether the amount of the obligation can be reliably estimated. Internal and external counsels are generally part of the determination process. All the estimates are revised periodically. Where the Group has assessed that it is only possible, but not probable, that outflow of economic resources will be required, it will be disclosing Contingent liabilities for those matters.

(h) Impairment of goodwill

The Group tests goodwill on consolidation annually for impairment by estimating the recoverable amount of the relevant CGUs using discounted cash flow models; this requires significant judgement in forecasting future cash flows and selecting key assumptions such as revenue growth rates, terminal growth rates and discount rates. Refer Note 60 to the Consolidated financial statements for further details.

New Standards, Interpretations and Amendments Adopted by the Group

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs had notified the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Second Amendment Rules, 2024 and Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Third Amendment Rules, 2024, respectively, which notified/amended certain accounting standards (see below), and are effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 April 2024:

- Insurance contracts - Ind AS 117; and
- Lease Liability in Sale and Leaseback – Amendments to Ind AS 116.

These amendments did not have any material impact on the amounts recognised in prior periods and are not expected to significantly affect the current or future periods.

New Amendments to Indian Accounting Standards that are not yet effective:

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs has notified the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards)

Amendment Rules, 2025 and Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Second Amendment Rules, 2025, respectively, which amended certain accounting standards which are not yet effective for current eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026.

Amendments effective for the annual reporting periods beginning on or after 01 April 2025:

Classification of Liabilities as Current or Non-current and Non-current Liabilities with Covenants –

Amendments to Ind AS 1, Presentation of Financial Statements: These amendments clarified that liabilities are classified as either current or non-current, depending on the rights that exist at the end of the reporting period. Classification is unaffected by the entity's expectations or events after the reporting date (e.g. a breach of covenant). Covenants of loan arrangements will not affect classification of a liability as current or non-current at the reporting date if the entity must only comply with the covenants after the reporting date. However, if the entity must comply with a covenant either before or at the reporting date, this will affect the classification as current or non-current even if the covenant is only tested for compliance after the reporting date. The amendments require certain disclosures if an entity classifies a liability as non-current and that liability is subject to covenants that the entity must comply with within 12 months of the reporting date.

Supplier Finance Arrangements –

Amendments to Ind AS 7, Statement of Cash Flows, and Ind AS 107, Financial Instruments: Disclosures: These amendments require specific disclosures about supplier finance arrangements (SFAs). The amendments respond to the investors' need for more information about SFAs to be able to assess how these arrangements affect an entity's liabilities, cash flows and liquidity risk.

International tax reform – Pillar Two model rules –

Amendments to Ind AS 12, Income Taxes: These amendments provide temporary relief from accounting for deferred taxes arising from the implementation of the Pillar Two model rules and introduce targeted disclosure requirements.

Lack of exchangeability:

Amendments to Ind AS 21, The Effects of Changes in Foreign Exchange Rates: The standard has been amended to help entities to determine whether a currency is exchangeable into another currency, and which spot exchange rate to use when it is not.

The Group is in the process of assessing the impact of application of these amendments on the financial statements.

Amendments effective for the annual reporting periods beginning on or after 01 April 2026:

Classification of Liabilities as Current or Non-current and Non-current Liabilities with Covenants:

The recent amendments to Ind AS 1 have removed the carve-out from IFRS Accounting Standards which allowed entities to classify liability as non-current on account of breach of a material provision for which the lender has agreed to waive the breach after the end of reporting period but before the approval of the financial statements for issue. This amendment should be applied retrospectively in accordance with the principles of Ind AS 8, Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors.

The Group is in the process of assessing the impact of application of these amendments on the Financial Statements.

40.1 Exceptional item
Impact of New Labour Codes	743	-

Note:

On November 21, 2025, the Government of India has consolidated multiple existing labour legislations into a unified framework comprising four Labour Codes - the Code on Wages, 2019, the Industrial Relations Code, 2020, the Code on Social Security, 2020, and the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020 - consolidating 29 existing labour laws, collectively referred to as the 'New Labour Codes'. In accordance with Ind AS 19 'Employee Benefits', changes to employee benefit plans arising from legislative amendments are treated as plan amendments, requiring immediate recognition of past service cost in the Consolidated financial statements. The Group has assessed and disclosed the incremental impact of these changes on the basis of best information available, consistent with the guidance provided by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. The implementation of New Labour Codes has resulted in an incremental impact of ₹ 743 million on the provision for gratuity and compensated absences in the Consolidated financial statements of continuing operations, which is due to the changes in the wage definition and employee policies. Considering the materiality and regulatory-driven, non-recurring nature of this impact, the Group has presented such incremental impact under "Exceptional Item" in the Consolidated financial statements for the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026.

(c) The funds formed by the Holding Company manages the investments of the Gratuity and Provident fund. Expected rate of return on investments is determined based on the assessment made by the Holding Company at the beginning of the period on the return expected on its existing portfolio, along with the estimated incremental investments to be made during the period. Yield on portfolio is calculated based on a suitable mark-up over the benchmark Government securities of similar maturities. For subsidiaries, the fund is managed by Life Insurance Corporation of India and HDFC Life. The Group expects to contribute ₹ 450 (30 September 2024: ₹ 423) to gratuity fund and ₹ 881 (30 September 2024: ₹ 632) to provident fund in year ending 31 March 2027.

The investment strategy in respect of its funded plans is implemented within the framework of the applicable statutory requirements. Each year, the Board of Trustees reviews the level of funding in the gratuity plan and provident fund. Such a review includes the asset liability matching strategy and investment risk management policy. The Board of Trustees decides its contribution based on the results of this annual review. Generally it aims to have a portfolio mix of equity instruments and debt instruments to minimise the risk exposed to investment.

(d) The estimates of future salary increases, considered in actuarial valuation, take in to account inflation, seniority, promotion and other relevant factors, such as supply and demand in the employment market.

(e) During the eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026, the Holding Company has voluntarily made application to EPFO for the Holding Company to comply as an unexempted establishment effective 1 September 2025. The Holding Company awaits approval from the EPFO on the aforementioned surrender application.

(iii) General descriptions of significant defined plans

I Gratuity Plan

Gratuity is payable to all eligible employees of the Group on separation, superannuation, death and permanent disablement, calculated as per the New Labour Codes as defined in Note 40.1 or as per the respective companies' policy, whichever is more beneficial. The benefit vests upon completion of five years of continuous service for permanent employees and on completion of 12 months for fixed term employees. The level of benefits provided depends on the member's length of service and last drawn wages as per the New Labour Codes.

II Medical benefits

Post retirement medical benefit is paid to the retired employees and their spouse till their survival and after their death, benefits are available to the employee's spouse. It consists of 3 components, which is health insurance, domiciliary medical allowance and Group support in case the expenses incurred are more than the health insurance coverage subject to the ceiling limit as per the grades and Group's policy.

III Pension

Pension is paid to management cadre employees of the Group, who retired before March 1998. Pension is paid on monthly basis. In case of death in retirement, 100% pension is paid to the spouse for first six months and then 60% thereafter.

IV Retirement Gift

Retirement gift is paid, as a token of appreciation to the permanent employees who are separating on their retirement or after their long association with the Group.

V Provident fund

Provident fund is a mandatory retirement benefit in India. Both, the Holding Company and the employees of the Holding Company, contribute 12% of applicable salary every month which accumulates with interest, as declared by the Government (EPFO rate). The Guidance note issued by the Institute of Actuaries of India states that benefits involving employer established provident funds, which require interest shortfalls to be recompensed are to be considered as defined benefit plans.

The above plans expose the Group to actuarial risks such as interest rate risk, salary inflation risk, demographic risk and medical inflation risk and EPFO return risk.

(i) Interest rate risk: The defined benefit obligation calculated uses a discount rate based on government bonds. If bond yields fall, the defined benefit obligation will tend to increase.

(ii) Salary Inflation risk: Higher than expected increases in salary will increase the defined benefit obligation

(iii) Demographic risk: This is the risk of variability of results due to unsystematic nature of decrements that include mortality, withdrawal, disability and retirement. The effect of these decrements on the defined benefit obligation is not straight forward and depends upon the combination of salary increase, discount rate and vesting criteria. It is important not to overstate withdrawals because in the financial analysis the retirement benefit of a short career employee typically costs less per year as compared to a long service employee.

(iv) Medical Inflation risk: Higher than expected increase in premium can lead to increase in defined benefit obligation. Although, this risk is mitigated by capping the benefit paid by the insurance company (limiting the premium amount for the Group).

(v) EPFO return risk: Higher the EPFO declared return, the expected shortfall increases if actual fund return continues to be on the lower side which increase the defined benefit obligation.

As per the qualitative and quantitative hedge effectiveness assessment performed by the Group atleast on quarterly basis, the cash flow hedges are effective considering that the hedge ratio of the hedging instrument and the hedged item is the same. Accordingly, the gains / (losses) on hedge instrument (forex forward contracts) fully offsets the gains / (losses) on hedged item (highly probable future forecasted revenue and purchase transactions). These contracts typically have a maturity period of 1-36 months. The effective portion of the gains / (losses) are re-cycled from the cash flow hedge reserve to revenue from operations and cost of materials consumed in the same period when the hedged item is recognised in Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

56 Financial Risk Management

The Group's principal financial liabilities comprise of trade payables, security deposits, lease liabilities and other financial liabilities. The Company's principal financial assets include trade receivables, cash and cash equivalents, bank balances, inter-corporate deposits and other financial assets that arise from its operations. The Group also enters into hedging transactions to cover foreign exchange exposure and commodity risk.

The Group's operating business is exposed to market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk. In order to optimize the allocation of the financial resources across the segments, as well as to achieve its objectives, the Group identifies, analyses and manages the associated market risks. The Group seeks to manage and control these risks primarily through its regular operating activities and uses derivative financial instruments when deemed appropriate. All derivative activities for risk management purposes are carried out by teams that have the appropriate skills, experience and supervision. The Holding Company has a Risk Management Committee, which ensures that the Group's financial risk taking activities are governed by appropriate policies and procedures and that financial risks are identified, measured and mitigated in accordance with the Group's policies and overall risk appetite.

A Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises of currency rate risk and interest rate risk. Financial instruments affected by market risks includes deposits, derivative financial instruments, trade receivables, trade payables and other financials assets and liabilities.

Foreign Currency risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes on foreign exchange rate. The Group operates internationally and transacts in several currencies and has foreign currency trade and other receivables and trade and other payables. Hence, the Group is exposed to foreign exchange risk. The Group holds derivative financial instruments such as foreign exchange forward and option contracts to mitigate the risk of changes in exchange rates on foreign currency exposures.

Foreign currency sensitivity

The following table demonstrate the sensitivity to a reasonably possible change in major currencies like US Dollar and Euro with all other variables held constant. The impact on the Group's profit before tax is due to changes in the fair value of monetary assets and liabilities including foreign currency derivatives. The Group's exposure to foreign currency changes for all other currencies is not material.

Particulars	Sensitivity	Effect on profit before tax		Effect on equity (cash flow hedge)
		Eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026	Year ended 30 September 2024	Eighteen months period ended 31 March 2026	Year ended 30 September 2024

	- 5%	(14)	303	(11)	(21)
Euro	+ 5%	(786)	(545)	(1)	(5)
	- 5%	786	545	1	5

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. Consequently, this could have unforeseen impact on Group's returns thus impacting the profit and loss.

The Group does not have any borrowings. Surplus funds are invested in deposits with banks and inter corporate deposits with related parties at fixed interest rates. The tenure of the deposits is managed to match with the liquidity profile of the Group.

Commodity price risk:

Note:

As at 31 March 2026:

In November 2024, the Group transitioned the execution of commodity forward contracts from Multi Commodity Exchange (MCX) to London Metal Exchange (LME) and London Bullion Market Association (LBMA), without any change in the underlying risk management objective. The Group's exposure to price risk of copper, aluminum and silver ('the Commodities') arise from the future purchases of these commodities. The prices of the commodities are linked to LME benchmark prices for copper and aluminum and LBMA for silver. Accordingly, the Commodities are subject to price volatility on LME and LBMA.

The Group takes Buy position on LME for copper and aluminum and LBMA for silver by entering into Commodity Forward Contracts to hedge the price risk related to the future forecasted purchase of the Commodities. The Group enters into non-deliverable Sell contracts to square-off the open Buy Positions due to any changes in the timing of the future forecasted purchases of copper and aluminum.

The Group hedges its commodity exposure in the overseas markets through forward contracts on LME and LBMA which are benchmarked against prices published by the respective exchanges, with Siemens AG (the Ultimate Holding Company) acting as the counterparty. All commodity forward contracts are denominated in USD.

Forecasted purchase of the Commodities results in exposure to commodity price risk due to the volatility of commodity prices on LME and LBMA, thereby affecting the profitability and financial position of the Group. The risk management strategy is to use the Buy future contracts on LME and LBMA, to hedge at least 75% of the forecasted purchases for the next three months on a rolling basis. These contracts are not designated in a hedging relationship, and subsequent changes in fair value are recognized in the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

The Group presents gross positions for the above-mentioned contracts as on the reporting date, as the Group does not meet criteria of offsetting.

As at 30 September 2024:

The Group took Buy position on MCX by entering into Commodity Future Contracts to hedge the price risk related to the future forecasted purchase of the Commodities and entered into Sell contracts on MCX to hedge the price risk on account of timing difference in invoicing and procurement in contracts related to future forecasted purchases.

As at 30 September 2024, the Group presented a net position for the Commodity Future Contracts on the reporting date, as the Group had a legally enforceable right and intends to offset the Buy and Sell contracts.

B Credit risk

Credit risk is defined as a potential loss in financial instruments if the counter party is failing to discharge its obligations in full and on time. The Group is exposed to credit risk from its operating and investing activities like trade receivables, cash and cash equivalents, contract assets, deposits with banks, inter-corporate deposits with related parties, foreign exchange and derivative transactions and other financial instruments. There are no loans or other financial assets at 31 March 2026 and 30 September 2024 which have significant increase in credit risk or which are are credit impaired, other than those disclosed in these Consolidated financial statements.

Receivables

The major exposure to credit risk at the reporting date is primarily from receivables comprising of trade receivables and contract assets. Credit risk on receivables and contract assets is limited due to the Group's large and diverse customer base which includes public sector enterprises, state owned companies, private corporate and related parties. The effective monitoring and controlling of credit risk through credit evaluations and ratings is a core competency of the Group's risk management system. There is no single customer who contributes more than 10% of the total revenue or trade receivable balance for the eighteen months period ended and as at 31 March 2026.

In respect of trade receivables and contract assets, the Group follows a simplified approach wherein an amount equal to lifetime expected credit loss (ECL) is measured and recognised as impairment allowance. The Group has computed ECL allowance based on a provision matrix. The provision matrix is prepared based on historically observed default rates over the expected life of trade receivables and is adjusted for forward-looking estimates. At every reporting date, the historical observed default rates are updated and changes in the forward-looking estimates are analysed.

The Group follows provisioning norms based on the roll rate method to estimate the impairment allowance under ECL on unsecured trade receivables and contract assets. As the risk profiles of the receivables is diverse, the Group further categorises receivables due from various segments into Government and Private sector for deriving the rates for provision matrix. Further, the Group has assessed credit risk on an individual basis in respect of certain customers in case of event driven situations such as litigations, disputes, change in customer's credit risk history, specific provisions are made after evaluating the relevant facts and expected recovery and provides customer specifc allowance.

The provision matrix at the end of the reporting period is as follows:

Other financial assets

Credit risk from cash and cash equivalents, deposits with banks and inter-corporate deposits with related parties and derivative financial instruments is managed by the Group's treasury department in accordance with the Group's policy. Credit risk related to cash and cash equivalent, deposit with banks and other bank balances is managed by having transactions with highly rated banks and inter-corporate deposits with related parties are secured by guarantee from the Ultimate Holding Company. Management does not expect any losses from non-performance by these counterparties and the risk of default is considered low or insignificant. Investments of surplus funds, temporarily, are made only with approved counter parties and within credit limits assigned to each counterparty. The maximum exposure to credit risk at the reporting date is the carrying value of each class of financial assets.

C Liquidity risk

The Group's principal sources of liquidity are cash and cash equivalents, bank balances and the cash flow that is generated from operations. The Group regularly monitors the rolling forecasts and actual cashflows, to ensure it has sufficient funds to meet the operational needs. The Group has used a weighted average capital cost (WACC), with a discount factor which reflects the timimg of the cash flows and the anticipated risks. The discount rate used is 13%.

Key assumptions include revenue and cost forecast over 5 years period. The growth is mainly expected from broader regional coverage of the sales network, cross-selling opportunities into existing customer base and from expanded integrated service offerings.

An analysis of the sensitivity of the change in key parameters mainly WACC and terminal annual growth rate based on probable assumptions, did not result in any probable scenario in which the recoverable amount would decrease below the carrying amount.
